

Truce Talk Heard Through Viet Nam; Add More Troops

U. S. Air Warfare Moratorium Continues Without Peace Try

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Truce talk pervaded the Vietnamese theater of war tonight, but the United States underscored its commitment to South Viet Nam by airlifting another brigade of U.S. troops into the jungle conflict.

The moratorium in the U.S. air war on North Viet Nam went into its sixth day, but the halt in the air attack still drew no public peace feeler from Hanoi.

The South Vietnamese government was reported ready to join the Viet Cong in proclaiming a cease-fire for the Vietnamese New Year next month. The United States entertained some doubts but was expected to concur in the truce.

Neither Washington nor Saigon saw the Communist offer of a truce on Tet, the lunar New Year festival Jan. 20-23, as a significant breakthrough toward peace. In the long guerrilla war, a military lull during the national holiday has become an annual ritual.

The airlift of some 4,000 jungle fighters from Hawaii to the central highlands base of Pleiku, 240 miles north of Saigon, raises the total American force in Viet Nam to 175,000 men.

The 3rd Brigade of the U.S. Army's 25th "Tropic Lightning" Division was arriving by C141 and C133 transports to join the American challenge to six or seven North Vietnamese regiments reported operating in the mountains. The brigade is taking over an area through which Communist supplies are believed coming from North Viet Nam.

Some Volunteers

Some of the men served as volunteers in Viet Nam before as machine gunners on helicopters. The division won its nickname and lightning armpatch for its jungle fight against the Japanese in the Solomon Islands in 1943.

U.S. officials did not say whether the rest of the division would be moved in from Hawaii.

Twenty-one Americans were killed in combat last week compared with 10 in the previous Sunday - to - Saturday reporting period, a U.S. spokesman announced. There were 95 American wounded.

Government casualties were listed as 227 dead, 499 wounded and 104 either wounded or captured, while the Communist toll was given as 937 killed and 137 wounded or captured.

Despite the air lull in the North, the air war in the South continued unabated.

Infant Dies After Blood Transfusion By Order of Court

MADISON (AP) — A 4-month-old Pardeeville boy given an emergency blood transfusion against objections from his parents, died Tuesday in a Madison hospital.

The child, Rocky, was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Vernon, rural Pardeeville. The parents objected to the transfusion because of their religious beliefs. The child had been brought from a Portage hospital to Madison suffering from pneumonia and complications.

Circuit Judge Richard T. Bardwell authorized the transfusion after hearing medical testimony that the child had a 50-50 chance for survival with a transfusion. The child's physician had petitioned for permission to give the transfusion.

The boy's father quietly but firmly protested the action during the court hearing.

Cornell Scientists

Radiation-Preserved Foods Called Unsafe

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP) — Three Cornell University scientists warn — and the Army denies — that food preserved by nuclear radiation could be deadly.

Their report Tuesday collided also with actions by the Food and Drug Administration, which has approved irradiated bacon, potatoes and wheat products for human consumption.

But the scientists said irradiation was a dangerous procedure for foods containing sugar.

They said sugar breaks down under radiation and can pass on lethal effects to living plant cells and probably to animal and human cells.

In Natick, Mass., Dr. Ferdinand P. Mehrlich, director of the Food Division of the U.S. Army Laboratories, said that 10 years of testing have failed to show any harmful effects from food preserved by radiation.

The Food and Drug Administration's approval was based on work done at the Natick laboratories, the principal location for research on food radiation by the Army and the Atomic Energy Commission.

Specific doses of gamma radiation retard the growth of bacteria that spoil food without causing the food to become radioactive.

Grew Plants

The scientists' report was issued by the Laboratory for Cell Physiology, Growth and Development at the State College for Agriculture, a publicly supported unit of Cornell. The scientists involved were Prof. Frederick C. Steward, the laboratory director, and Dr. Richard D. Helsten and Dr. Michiya Sugii, who grew plants in irradiated solutions to test the results.

$250,000 Fire Damages College Avenue Building

Restaurant's New Fryer Is Blamed

BY BILL KNUTSON
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Fire that started when a new deep fryer was turned on for the first time raced through three floors of the Olympia Building Tuesday evening causing damage that probably will total more than $250,000.

The blaze, that started at 6 p.m. in the kitchen of Retson's Sandwich Shop on the ground floor of the Olympia Building, 109 W. College Ave., burned out of control nearly three hours.

About 40 patrons in the restaurant were evacuated without incident and Miss Velda Petersen, occupant of a third floor apartment, escaped unharmed.

Retson's Restaurant and a "rathskeller type" bar called the Shack, frequented by Lawrence University students and others, was on the ground and sub-levels of the 50-year-old building, as was the Rose Shop, a women's ready-to-wear store.

Second Floor

On the second floor were the law offices of William J. and David G. Geenen, the Groh Insurance Agency, Ace Tri-City Stamp Co., and several vacant offices and storage spaces. Miss Petersen's apartment was the only occupied space on the third floor.

Philip N. Retson, 1115 E. Melrose St., one of four brothers who own a portion of the Olympia Building, said he was in his restaurant kitchen when the fire broke out.

Retson said the entire restaurant and bar had just been extensively remodeled and the deep fryer was "the final touch." Men who installed the machine earlier in the day turned on the fryer controls and a short time later flames broke out in the filtering apparatus just above, he explained.

Spread Rapidly

Retson said he grabbed a small extinguisher and thought he had the fire out when Appleton firemen arrived. However, seconds later flames erupted again and spread rapidly, Retson said.

Two waitresses, Joan Jurgella and Sandra Ernst, ran upstairs to aid Miss Petersen, but found her coming down the stairs. She had smelled the smoke.

Gasoline Ration Puts Officials on Bikes in Zambia

LUSAKA, Zambia (AP) — Government ministers have laid out their American cars for smaller models. U.S. Ambassador Robert Good and other diplomats have bought bicycles.

Work schedules have been altered to end lunch trips home.

"Is your journey really necessary?" That's the watchword in Zambia as gasoline rationing limits motorists to one gallon a week.

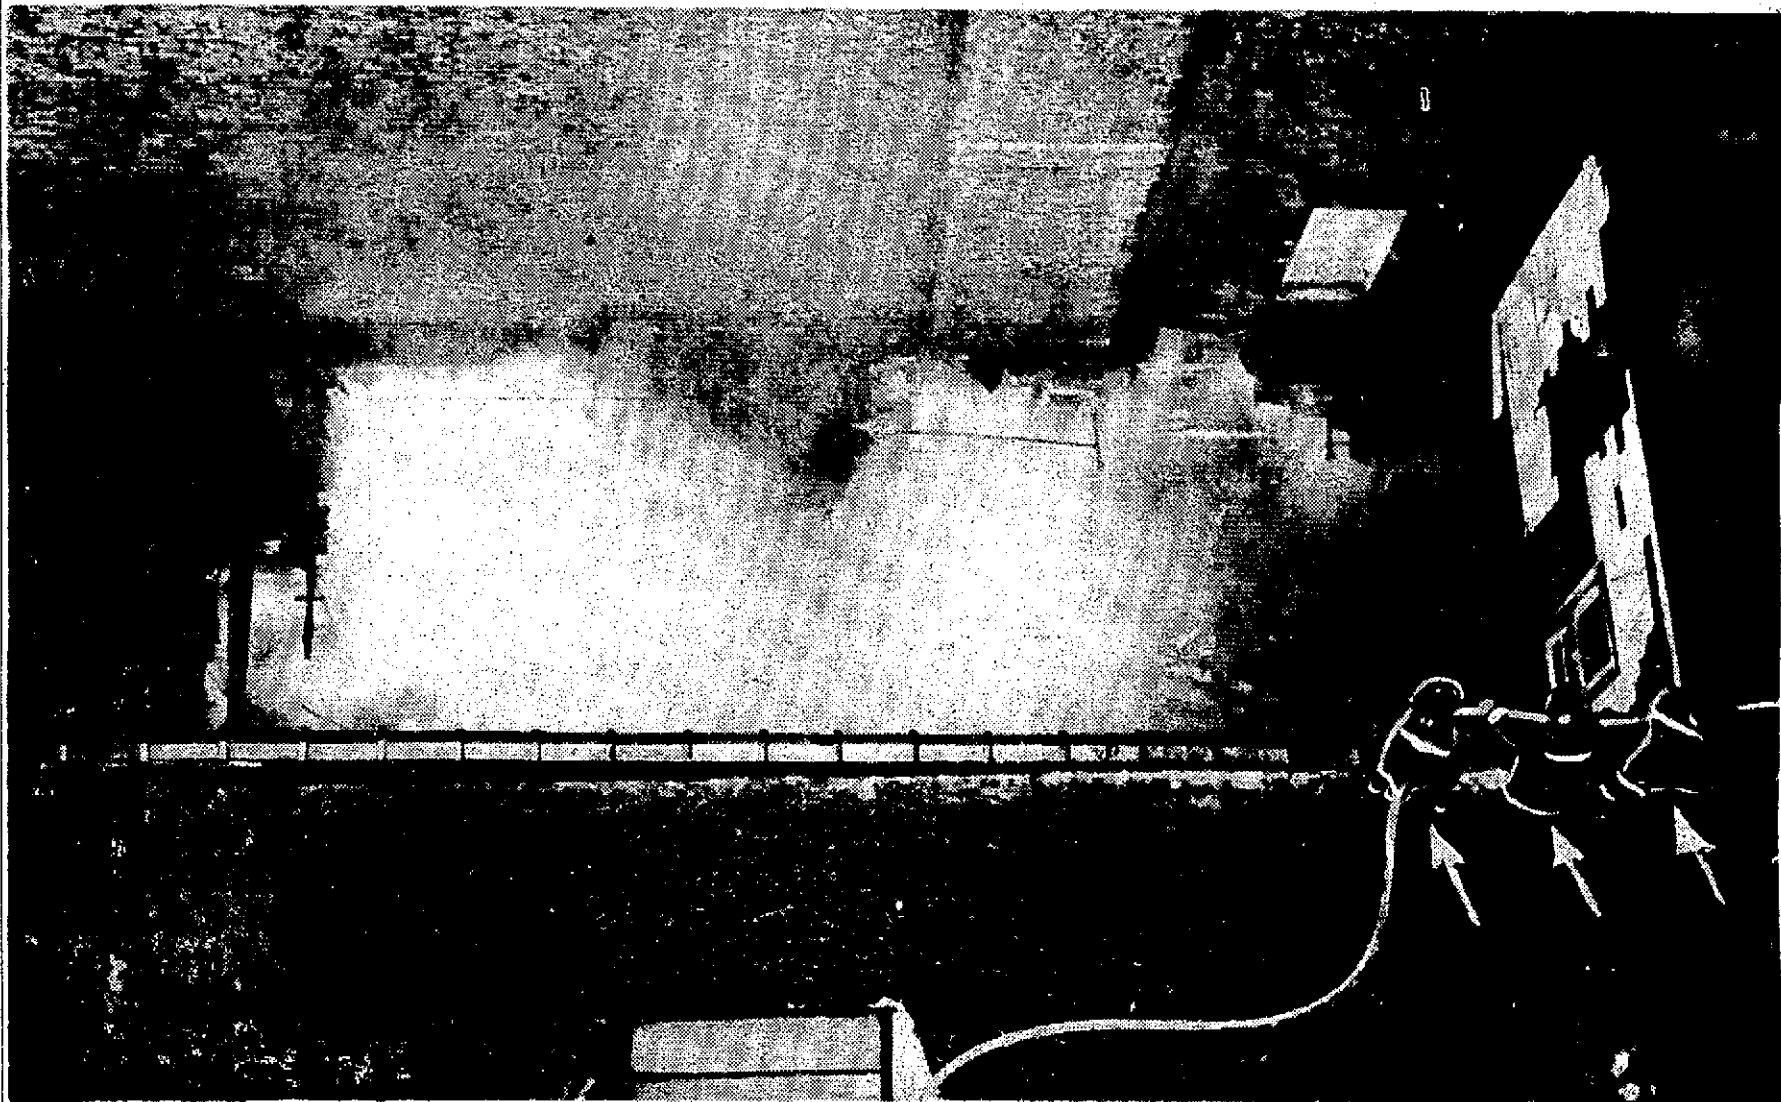

Zambia normally gets its petroleum supplies from Rhodesia, its neighbor to the south. When Britain embargoed oil shipments to that rebellious central African territory, Rhodesia's white government cut off supplies to Zambia to conserve its own stocks.

Search for Missing Illinois Girl to Continue When Snow Melts

ROCKFORD, Ill. (AP) — Authorities are waiting for snow to melt in the Rockford area to continue the search for Susan Brady, 11, who has been missing since Dec. 20.

Capt. Herb Brown of the Winnebago County sheriff's office said Tuesday a planned search of drain tiles and culverts in the area was hampered by a moderately heavy snowfall over the weekend.

An apparent crank telephone call to the girl's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Brady, brought a promise by State's Atty. Gen. William R. Nash that any such calls that can be traced "will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law."

More Than $250,000 Damage is estimated in the fire which destroyed part of the Olympia Building on College Avenue in downtown Appleton Tuesday night. The fire started in a new deep fryer in the kitchen of Retson's Sandwich Shop and most damage was confined to that building with adjoining firms receiving smoke damage. The picture was taken from the top of the Zuelke building.

Supplies Rifles, Machine Guns

Government Presses to End Strike at Gunpowder Plant

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government stepped up its pressure today to end a strike which the Pentagon says could virtually cut off the supply of rifle and machine - gun ammunition for U.S. fighting men in Viet Nam.

"We want a settlement," said chief federal mediator William E. Simkin after reporting scant progress toward ending the 29-day strike of AFL-CIO machinists at the Olin Mathieson Chemical Co. plant in East Alton, Ill.

The Pentagon said the plant is the sole supplier of gunpowder for rifle and machine-gun bullets and 20mm shells used in Viet Nam.

"The Army will face a critical problem in supplying the ammunition requirements" unless the strike is settled quickly, the Pentagon said.

Court Action — While Simkin pressed for a voluntary settlement of the dispute over wages, fringe benefits and working conditions, the White House reportedly was ready to halt the strike with court action if necessary.

President Johnson would have to sign a petition to a federal court for an 80-day "cooling off" injunction under the Taft-Hartley Act.

The talks almost broke off completely Tuesday, sources said, but Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz stepped in and talked with the negotiators for two hours. Simkin then announced the resumption of negotiations today after giving both sides all night "to reappraise their positions."

Secretary of the Army Stanley R. Resor said it was imperative that production at the Illinois plant be resumed.

"The only other plant in the United States equipped to produce ball powder is the inactive Badger Army Ammunition plant in Wisconsin," the Pentagon said.

The Olin Mathieson plant produces the powder for all U.S. firms that manufacture bullets for the new M16 lightweight rifle, the standard M14 rifle, M60 machine guns, tracer bullets and 20mm shells used in Viet Nam, the Army said.

While Simkin said Johnson had not officially intervened in the talks, there were indications that Wirtz' sudden appearance in the negotiations followed conferences with the White House.

Machinists' and Olin Mathieson negotiators four times previously reached agreement, but union members voted it down. The talks were called here Monday after the latest rejection.

Some 4,200 workers are involved in the strike, 3,800 of them machinists. Two other unions — the AFL-CIO International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers and the independent Western Employees Trade Council — with a total of less than 600 members are also on strike. Simkin said there was reason to believe they would settle quickly once the machinists reached agreement.

Workers at the plant now average $2.78 per hour. The last rejected offer reportedly was worth about 34 cents an hour more.

Saltonstall Quits Seat In Senate

BOSTON (AP) — Sen. Leverett Saltonstall, R-Mass., announced his retirement today, bringing to a close 45 years in public office, including 21 years in the U.S. Senate.

Saltonstall, 73, said he is retiring at the end of his term in January. He said he reached the decision after "painstaking thought" and after discussing it with his family and friends.

Saltonstall has held elective public office almost continuously since 1920.

His retirement will touch off a wild scramble for his seat, both among members of his own party who couldn't hope to budge him in a GOP primary, and among Democrats who time after time have seen him tumble their vote-getting campaigns.

440 May Die During Weekend

Safety Council
Makes Prediction
For 3-Day Holiday

CHICAGO (AP) — The National Safety Council estimated today that between 360 and 440 persons could be killed in traffic accidents during the three-day New Year's weekend.

The holiday period begins at 6 p.m. Thursday and ends at midnight Sunday. The period actually covers 78 hours.

The Safety Council said some 360 persons would be expected to die in traffic accidents this weekend if it were not a holiday.

Traffic accidents during the three-day year-end period last year killed 474 persons, the highest toll on record for that holiday.

Christmas Toll — A record 720 persons were killed in last week's three-day Christmas observance, the highest number recorded for any holiday period since record-keeping began.

The Safety Council estimated that 17,000 to 21,000 persons would suffer disabling injuries this weekend in traffic accidents, compared to 18,000 for a non-holiday period.

Motorists are expected to drive about 6.9 billion miles during the year-end period, about the same expected for a non-holiday weekend, the Safety Council said.

Church Destroyed By Medford Fire

MEDFORD (AP) — Fire destroyed a towering 73-year-old church in downtown Medford Tuesday.

The First Baptist church building was engulfed by a blaze which apparently started on the first floor, according to fire officials. There was no estimate of damage available.

The white frame building, across from the Taylor County courthouse, was built in 1892 and was occupied by the Congregational Church until 1948. The Baptist congregation purchased the building in 1950 when another fire destroyed the interior.

Fire Chief Leslie Ketelhut said the cause of the fire was undetermined.

The sparkle of the occasion was also reflected in five crystal chandeliers hung in the ballroom. The glow was enhanced by large topiary trees of white with pink roses and petite lights.

Appleton, Local Reach Accord On 1966 Pact

Tentative Agreement Announced by City, Teamsters Local

Teamsters Local No. 563 and the Appleton Council's personnel committee reached tentative agreement on a 1966 contract Wednesday night, capping an eight-hour mediation session.

Negotiators for the city and union met with Arthur Kirby, Milwaukee, a mediator with the Wisconsin Employment Relations Board (WERB), at the city hall from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m.

The meeting, the second attempt at mediation since the city and union reached a stalemate on the wage issue several weeks ago, was called by the WERB.

Statement Authorized

Kirby, announcing the tentative settlement this morning, said he had been authorized by the union and personnel committee to issue a public statement.

"I would say both sides worked hard to iron out differences and arrive at agreement," Kirby said.

The agreement, Kirby said, calls for hourly paid employees in the department of public works to receive a 14-cent per hour rate, increase effective Jan. 1.

Kirby indicated the wage increase represented a compromise and reflected the fact that DPW employees did not receive a pay raise in 1965.

Details Confirmed

Robert Schlieve, secretary-treasurer of Local 563, and Max Hensel, chairman of the city's personnel committee, confirmed agreement details.

Other phases of the proposed contract were agreed to previously by the union and committee, and received council approval at a recent executive session.

The council will have the final say when it comes to approving the contract.

Over a period of months the personnel committee has put in many hours negotiating contracts with various employee unions and associations. All have now agreed to terms on 1966 contracts.

Representing the city in Wednesday's talks in addition to Hensel were Aids. John Mac Donald - (7th), Robert Ebben (9th), Richard Huisman (1st).

The year 1965 "came in like a lion and is going out in the same fashion," Appleton firemen observed this morning.

Firemen, who Tuesday night battled the city's worst blaze of the year, pointed out that 1965 started off with an explosion and serious fire about 3 a.m. Jan. 1.

The blaze, touched off following an explosion caused by a gas leak, destroyed the Karl Towse home, 1756 N. Racine St., causing more than $35,000 damage. No one was injured.

Damage at $250,000

Damage in Tuesday night's blaze may run upward of $250,000.

The last major downtown fire, prior to Tuesday night's blaze, was March 21, 1964 when the 100-year-old Krull building at 512 W. College Ave. was damaged extensively. That fire, which broke out about 10 p.m. on a Saturday night, was four blocks west of the Olympia building which was destroyed Tuesday night.

Damage in the Krull building fire was far less, in dollars and cents, than at the Olympia building.

Second in Restaurant

Tuesday night's fire was the second one within a month that started in a restaurant.

A short circuit in a frying machine Dec. 2 caused extensive damage to the kitchen at Karras Restaurant, 207 N. Appleton St. Flames also got through a ceiling and damaged the floor and walls of an unoccupied upstairs apartment.

Like Tuesday night's fire which broke out in the kitchen of Retson's Sandwich Shop in the Olympia Building, the Karras fire occurred during the peak supper hour.

About 40 patrons were routed from both the Karras and the Retson fires.

Combined Locks Tax Bills May Be Mailed Late

COMBINED LOCKS — Tax bills for village residents are expected to arrive late this week as a result of late arrival of tax envelopes and illness of the clerk-treasurer.

Mrs. Irene Rehmer, clerk-treasurer, indicated persons desiring to pay taxes this week for income tax purposes and who have not received tax notices may stop at the office to pay and she will look up the amount due on the tax roll.

Office hours are from 8:30 a.m. to noon and from 1 to 4:30 p.m. The office will close at noon Friday.

Total amount of taxes to be collected this year is $478,950 about $50,000 higher than the $427,998 collected in 1965.

Tax Increases

"On the basis of recent experience, Wisconsin's economy has expanded only about one-half as fast as executive budget spending. This accounts for the tax increases enacted by recent legislature," Reynolds pointed out.

More than half the executive budget is for the state's share of public elementary, high school and college costs, the speaker said. Projected enrollment increases at all levels will continue to demand higher spending, although the increases should start to level off.

"While legislators may shudder at the thought of mounting costs of educating an increasing population, they apparently prefer this to any substantial change in the state's policy which could shift more of the burden directly to the property owner. Another distasteful alternative from the lawmaker's point of view."

Ripon College Plans $300,000 Infirmary

RIPON — A new infirmary and clinic estimated to cost $300,000 has been authorized by the Ripon College board of trustees, President Fred O. Pinkham has announced.

Bids on the 10,725 square-foot structure will be accepted up to Jan. 20 and construction will begin early in 1966. Shattuck, Siewert and Associates, Inc., Neenah, is the architect.

The new infirmary will replace a 65-year-old former residence put into service when the college had one-fifth the student population of today.

Fox Planners Want Status Of Federal Aid Clarified

State Needs Salesmen WTA Official Claims Economic Expansion Solution to Tax Woes

"The long term solution to point of view," he said, "is continuing tax woes is increased economic expansion" members of the Appleton Lions Club were told Tuesday night at the Manor House.

"This demands that each one of us become a salesman for our state, stressing its advantages for industrial expansion," John P. Reynolds, vice president for field services of the Wisconsin Taxpayers Alliance explained.

"Common sense requires that we accept that challenge and the opportunity which is ours," the speaker said.

Ease of Agreement

Reynolds said the most surprising development in the 1965 state legislature's debate over fiscal policy was the ease with which agreement was reached on the level of spending and the provision for additional taxes at a lower level than had been expected.

"The executive budget for the next two years provides net appropriations of almost $930 million. This is $178 million, or 27 per cent more than 1963-65 appropriations," Reynolds said.

"The original $110.7 million revenue gap was closed partially by revised estimates of revenue from current taxes, reduced requirements for property tax relief for the aged, and by the levy of $73.6 million in additional taxes on individual incomes, cigarettes and banks he added.

Four Get New Posts At Miller Electric

G. K. Willecke, L. C. Miller Named Vice Presidents at Appleton Firm

Two new vice presidents and two assistant vice presidents have been appointed at Miller Electric Manufacturing Co., according to an announcement today by Mrs. Niels C. Miller, president of the firm.

Gerhard K. Willecke, formerly director of research, has been named administrative vice president, effective Jan. 1, and Miss Miller, the new financial vice president, began with the firm in 1935. Under her supervision the accounting, payroll and credit departments expanded to keep pace with the increased business volume. The latest innovation in Miss Miller's department was the introduction of data processing equipment which computes payrolls, processes purchase orders and maintains a stock inventory.

In her new position, Miss Miller will head the data processing department.

Donald E. Long Files For 10th Ward Post On Appleton Council

Donald E. Long, 1503 S. Memorial Drive, today became a candidate for the 10th Ward aldermanic post in the March, 1966, primary election.

Long will be seeking the position held for more than two decades by Ald. Harold Hanne-mann who announced recently he will not seek re-election.

Long, sales manager for Schaefer Dairy Co., filed his nomination papers with the city clerk's office.

The deadline for filing papers for the coming election is Jan. 25.

Aldermen serve in a part-time capacity, receiving $1,200 a year.

Statement Incorrect

Swartzel continued that "The statement in the Wisconsin manual included with your letter is not correct" as applied to 66.30.

The statement referred to a paragraph in the state manual on procedures for obtaining federal planning aid. It defines eligible planning agencies which may be considered for 701 planning aid.

The paragraph in part states: "The prime requisites for eligibility are that the agency in question be legally empowered under state or local laws to carry on metropolitan or regional planning. In Wisconsin, planning of this nature is

6 Appleton Firemen Hurt Slightly

Although it was at first believed only one Appleton fireman was injured fighting Tuesday night's blaze at the Olympia Building, reports from officials about noon today show that at least six firemen were hurt, none seriously.

Two officers were on the "injured list." They are Asst. Chief Donald Dexter, who received a pulled shoulder muscle, and Deputy Chief Harold Kramer who sprained his wrist and was hit in the eyes by bits of falling insulation while inside the building.

Ice was one the hazards firemen had to contend with Tuesday. Twenty degree temperatures and a sharp wind caused water to freeze on the sidewalk and street.

Driver in Fatal Crash Given 1-Year Jail Term

Gregory Popke, New London, Had Received Warning Letter 4 Days Before Accident

Gregory R. Popke, 19, who four days before he was involved in a head-on crash that killed three persons was sent an official letter warning him of his driving record, Tuesday afternoon was sentenced to a year in jail after he was found guilty of negligent homicide.

Outagamie County Judge Gustave J. Keller imposed the sentence after Popke, of 604 Wallace St., New London, pleaded no contest to the charge of Dec. 10. Popke's driver's license also was revoked for a year.

The youth was charged after a finding of negligence by a six-man coroner's jury Nov. 4. Witnesses, including police, had testified Popke attempted to pass a car in a no-passing zone just prior to the crash which occurred near a curve and the crest of a hill.

Killed at Greenville

Killed in the early evening accident on U.S. 45, a mile west of Greenville, Corners, were Charles R. Bradle, 19, driver of one car, his sister, Ruth, 10, and a brother, Michael, 2.

Mrs. Clarence Bradle, 40, mother of the victims, still is in Appleton Memorial Hospital recovering from injuries she received in the accident.

A relative at Park Falls today said Mrs. Bradle "is just starting to walk again," although her general condition is good. Mrs. Bradle is expected to be released from the hospital in February. Most serious of her injuries were back damage and broken legs, the relative said.

Released from Hospital

Also injured were Miss Sandra Wehrman, 16, Park Falls, and Barbara Bradle, the victims' sister. They were released from the hospital some time ago, it was learned. Popke, who was alone in his car, was not seriously injured.

Dist. Atty. Nick F. Schaefer, who Tuesday termed the accident "one of the most serious and tragic in Outagamie County," told the court that from Nov. 16, 1964 to Sept. 14, 1965, Popke was arrested for failure to obey a traffic signal, illegal passing and speeding.

On Sept. 27, Popke was sent a "warning letter" from the Wisconsin Motor Vehicle Department, Schaefer said. Such letters warn a motorist that his driving record is being examined and remind him of the "driving points" he has lost and those that remain.

Third Time

Judge Keller, stating that this is the third time in six weeks drivers have been in his court on violations of traffic regulations in connection with fatal accidents, suggested to Popke that he request county authorities grant him permission to serve the sentence under the Huber Law.

This would allow him to get out of jail during working hours only.

Land Expert Hired By Wolf Planners

Dennis R. Kraft, formerly assistant planner of the Ventura County Planning Commission, Ventura, Calif., has been named chief land use planner of the Wolf River Basin Regional Planning Commission, Gordon A. Bubolz, commission chairman said today. A 1960 graduate of Augustana College, Rock Island, Ill., with a major in geography, Kraft also took graduate work in geography, with special emphasis in land-use planning, including urban planning, at Southern Illinois University.

All-American City Goal For Menasha

MENASHA — Meeting for the first time Tuesday, the seven-man commission of the Menasha Redevelopment Authority wasted no time in setting up a broad program with the goal of making Menasha an All American city.

The commission, named a week ago by the common council, took a series of immediate steps and discussed long range objectives.

The first order of business was election of officers. By unanimous votes Ralph McClone of the McClone Agency was elected chairman; Douglas Gunderson of Gunderson's Cleaning and Laundry, vice chairman, Edward Zeininger, an international representative for the International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers, secretary, and Kenyon Kimball, president of the First National Bank of Menasha, treasurer.

Mowry Smith Jr., president of the Menasha Wooden Ware Co. and chairman of the New Menasha Committee, and George Banta Jr., chairman of the board of George Banta Co., were named honorary co-chairmen.

Mayor John Klein will serve as an ex-officio commission member. Allen Adams, a Menasha lawyer, donated his legal services and was named the attorney for the authority. All terms of office are for one year. Representing the common council on the authority are Alds. Walter Rummel and Robert Probst.

After the elections, the group decided they should take a first step immediately. Letters were being sent out this morning to a select group of area businesses to raise $6,000 before the end of the year for a study of the current and future commercial potential in downtown Menasha.

While with Ventura County, Kraft devoted his major efforts to land use planning, including regional parks, shore line developments, riding and hiking trails. He assisted with the preparation of planning policies and land-use design concepts. Kraft also was a planner for the Springfield, Ill., Sangamon County Regional Planning Commission, where he completed a comprehensive plan, zoning ordinances and subdivision regulations.

According to Bubolz, Kraft's qualifications equip him particularly well for the Wolf River region program since much planning effort will be devoted to land use development needs, including park and recreation development. Several of the member counties have recreation site proposals which they desire to acquire and save and become a part of their public facilities program. The counties are ready to proceed now that William E. Morris, the new executive director of planning, and Kraft, are ready to start work, Bubolz said.

Morris will assume his duties next week. Kraft arrived in Appleton Tuesday.

Committee Will Lay Plans for Menasha Elderly

NEENAH - MENASHA — A committee will be named by the board of directors of the Community Council of Neenah-Menasha to formulate a plan to meet needs for Twin Cities senior citizens, the Rev. John Hanchett, president, announced today.

The tenor of that committee's recommendation will be closely allied to the philosophy of the Wisconsin Commission on Aging (WCA). The commission has two objectives, first, to enable the senior citizen to live as independently as possible during later years and, secondly, to assure the best possible use of funds and personnel in serving the elderly by effective planning and coordination.

It appears some action can be taken in Neenah and Menasha now to help the aging men and women in the community live independently. Under the Older Americans Act in Wisconsin, the administration of which is being handled through the State Commission on Aging, a share of the $100,000 which will be released in Wisconsin in 1966 can be put to use here.

After the elections, the group decided they should take a first step immediately. Letters were being sent out this morning to a select group of area businesses to raise $6,000 before the end of the year for a study of the current and future commercial potential in downtown Menasha.

When the fire in the Olympia building on downtown College Avenue was extinguished Tuesday night, the "Shack" popular spot for University students at Relson's Sandwich Shop was flooded with 2½ feet of water. The place had just been remodeled at a cost of approximately $25,000. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Deadline Set to Seek Membership In Thilmany Fund

KAUKAUNA — Employees of the Thilmany Pulp and Paper Co. who are not members of the Thilmany Employees Association Member Fund have until Friday to file application for membership.

Members of the fund authorize the company to deduct from two to five per cent from pay checks and for each dollar saved, the company contributes 25 cents. In recent years the company's contribution has exceeded the 25 cents and in 1965 the firm contributed 60 cents for each dollar saved.

More than 300 employees are eligible to join, according to a recent check. Main purpose of the fund is to provide an important addition to an employee's total retirement income or possibly extra resources in event of death, disability or serious financial need.

Employees who are already members and wish to increase the amount deducted from checks also must file intention by Friday. The maximum deduction allowed is 5 per cent.

The savings and the company contribution are deposited with a trustee who in turn invests the deposits and the earnings from the deposits are added to the member's account.

New York State Wants To Know if It Can Keep Funds Lent in 1836

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — During the administration of President Andrew Jackson, the federal government loaned New York State $4 million.

Now, 127 years later, the state wants to know if it can keep the money.

State Comptroller Arthur Levitt told Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D.N.Y., in a letter Tuesday that Congress should decide whether to demand repayment or release the state from any obligation to repay.

In 1836, Congress voted to distribute a federal surplus of $28 million among the states as loans, payable on demand.

Levitt said that only New York and two or three other states had kept the funds intact in the event of such a demand.

A total of 39 persons have registered for possible funerals in the past four years but so far no one who registered was killed.

LaCrosse Asks Special Judge for Injunction Appeal

LA CROSSE (AP) — The city common council asked Tuesday that a special judge be appointed to hear its arguments to lift a temporary restraining order won by news media to prevent the council from holding a secret caucus.

The council filed a routine affidavit of prejudice against Circuit Judge Lincoln Neprud of Viroqua. Appointment of a special judge is usually automatic on such motions.

The La Crosse Tribune and stations WLCX, WKBH and WKBT-TV received the temporary restraining order from Judge Neprud earlier in the month to prevent the council from meeting in caucus to discuss persons to fill its vacancies and posts on the board of education.

The news media are asking the restraining order be made permanent while the council wants it lifted entirely. There are four vacancies at present on the board of education and two on the 21-seat common council.

Pipe Line Firms Plan Expansion In Midwest

Projects Would Cost $75.6 Million if Approved by FPC

DETROIT (AP) — Two pipe line firms said Tuesday they plan a $75.6 million expansion program which would allow transmission of an additional 77 billion cubic feet of gas per year to the Midwest.

Michigan Wisconsin Pipe Line Co. and the American Louisiana Pipe Line Co., said they have filed a joint application with the Federal Power Commission to construct the new transmission facilities.

Construction of the pipe lines will begin as soon as the commission approves the project, the firms said. Completion is scheduled for early next fall, to help the firms meet peak winter daily demands of 2.432 billion cubic feet.

Michigan Consolidated Gas Co., will purchase approximately 70 per cent of the new saleable supply, some 135 million cubic feet of gas per day, the firms said.

The remainder is scheduled for sale to Milwaukee Gas Light Co., and 38 other utilities, including Michigan Gas and Electric Co., and Michigan Gas Utilities Co.

The two pipe line firms are in the process of merging into a single company, with Michigan Wisconsin to take over operations of American Louisiana and construct the new transmission lines.

Salvage Crews Work On Sunken Barges That Stop Chicago Traffic

LOCKPORT, Ill. (AP) — Salvage crews continued today to cut a path through a confused snarl of tossed and sunken barges that have blocked waterway traffic since Christmas Eve between Chicago and river ports as far as New Orleans.

The district office of the Army Corps of Engineers said a usable channel might be opened through the wrecks late today. However, spokesmen for the barge owners doing the salvage work said it might take them as long as Friday to complete the job.

Catholics to Observe Octave Day Saturday

Catholic churches all over the world will celebrate the feast of circumcision, recently changed to the Octave Day after Christmas, Jan. 1, which is historically the remembrance of the circumcision of Jesus.

According to an ancient theory, the people of Israel felt that through their circumcised men all the people of the nation engaged themselves personally and individually in God's plan of liberation and entered into an alliance with Him.

Today the feast recalls Jesus' engagement in His Father's plan for the redemption of the human race and marks the first shedding of His blood for humanity.

Appleton Catholic churches will follow a regular Sunday mass schedule for the celebration of the holy day of obligation.

Last March, when the Manitowoc and Appleton High School basketball teams collided in the first round of the WIAA sectional tournament in Green Bay's Veterans Memorial Arena, the game was billed as the top attraction in the state.

At 8-15 p.m. Thursday, representatives of these same two teams will do battle in the AHS gym. This time, however, both will be seeking sole possession of third place in the rapidly-progressing Fox River Valley Conference race.

Of last season's principal figures, only Manitowoc's Steve Check remains. Check was the only present member of either team to see action in any of the three AHS-Manitowoc meetings during the 1964-5 campaign.

Check, who did get to play in all three meetings, scored a total of two points and fouled out of one of the games.

Score 66 Each Time

Check's two points came in Manly's 66-59 triumph over the Terrors. The Ships also managed to score 66 points in the next two meetings against Dick Emanuel-coached Appleton, but the Terrors totaled 71 to win both the FRVC championship and a berth in the sectional finals.

Thus, Appleton's 2-time defending champions have rolled to four wins in the last five

Eagles Sign Pettigrew, No. 2 Draftee

PHILADELPHIA (AP)

Gary Pettigrew, 245-pound defensive end-tackle from Stanford, the second draft choice of the Philadelphia Eagles, has signed with the National Football League club.

Eagles General Manager Joe Kuharich announced Tuesday the signing of Pettigrew, the sixth choice of the San Diego Chargers in the American Football League. Acquisition of Pettigrew gave the Eagles their top three choices in the November NFL player draft.

Previously the Eagles signed their No. 1 pick, Randy Beisler of Indian, and the third choice, Ben Hawkins, Arizona State flanker.

Pettigrew suffered a right knee injury in Stanford's second game of the season and underwent surgery to repair damaged ligaments. The knee was in a cast until November. Kuharich said, however, that doctors have assured the Eagles Pettigrew will be perfectly fit by summer, and that the husky lineman will be as good as new.

May be Most Important Day of 10-Year Career

Zeke Quietly Preparing for Sunday

By JACK HAND

GREEN BAY (AP)—Edmund Raymond (Zeke) Bratkowski, a No. 2 boy for most of his 10 years in the National Football League is quietly preparing for the most important day of his career.

If Bart Starr's bruised back does not come around, it will be up to Zeke to carry the load Sunday against the Cleveland Browns in the NFL championship game as Green Bay's starting quarterback.

Starr's chances of playing won't be determined until later in the week. He was to try to throw today when the Packers resume practice after a two-day layoff.

It was Zeke who did the job last Sunday, guiding the Packers to a 13-10 victory over Baltimore in sudden death overtime after Starr was injured on the first play from scrimmage.

Second Draft Choice

Zeke's hair has gotten a bit thin on top in the years since he came out of Georgia as the Chicago Bears second draft pick in 1953. He is 34 now and has fathered a family of three boys — 10, 6 and 4 — who are more occupied with the electric guitars that Santa Claus brought than with daddy's big test.

"Thank goodness the batteries are running down," said Zeke. "Bart and I are the closest friends," explained Bratkowski.

"If he plays and does the job, it will be a great thing for all of us. If he can't play, then I have to try to do my best."

"You work for this game, or any game, as though you are going to start. Bart and I and young Dennis Claridge like to look at the films before the coaches give us the game plan. They usually do that on Wednesday, along with a lot of technical stuff."

Overall Picture

"You try to get the overall picture from the films and see the defense they use. Then, when you get the plan, you don't stumble over it."

Zeke picked up his nickname as a kid when he hung around the ball park while his dad played semipro baseball. He thinks it probably came from Zeke Bonura. That is long ago now, and his pro history stretched through an Army — interrupted stay with the Bears and 2½ years with Los Angeles before he came to the Packers in mid-season of 1963.

"Ed Brown and I alternated at Chicago," Zeke said. "Oddly enough, Frank Ryan, now with Cleveland, was with me with the Rams. Then I shuttled back and forth with Terry Baker and Roman Gabriel before I came over here."

"I felt it was a great opportunity to come to Green Bay — a real winner."

40 Men Ready

"As far as Bart and I are concerned, I think he phrased it best after Sunday's game when he said, 'the Packers are 40 men ready to play and not any one man.' Bart did an excellent job for us all year and I did my best to help out when I got in there."

Zeke, who was the quarterback for the Packers in four of their victories, thinks the 39 passes he threw Sunday may have been the most he ever threw. He played briefly against Cleveland in a 30-14 exhibition game victory in September and rates the Browns a "good solid football team."

The five included four defensive ends — Bill Sullivan of West Virginia, Ralph Dunlap of Baylor, Bob Kowalkowski of Virginia, and Frank Fennie of Florida State. The fifth is Sonny Odom, Duke flanker-back.

The signings brought to 15 the number of new college men acquired by the Lions for next season.

Sullivan and Dunlap were chosen by the Lions in this year's draft. Kowalkowski, Fennie and Odom were future choices in 1964.

Nitschke Will Have Job of Greeting Fullback Jim Brown

'I'll Go Where He Goes,' Bays Burly Middle Linebacker Says

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Ray Nitschke draws the short straw Sunday. As middle linebacker of the Green Bay Packers, it will be his job to greet Jim Brown of the Cleveland Browns when he charges up the middle in the National Football League title game.

Halas Bows Out Of George Rice Bidding Race

LSU Tackle Now Available to Any Other NFL Club

CHICAGO (AP) — Owner-

Coach George Halas of the Chicago Bears, spurning pro football's money derby, offered Tuesday the rights to the Bears' No. 1 draft pick, tackle George Rice of Louisiana State, to any interested National Football League club.

At the same time, Halas disclosed signing of the club's No. 5 draft choice, Franklin McRae, 276-pound defensive tackle from Tennessee State.

In dropping negotiations with the 260-pound Rice, reportedly able to name his own terms with the Houston Oilers of the American Football League, Halas commented:

"The Bears are withdrawing from the money derby which is getting ridiculous and is not conducive to good squad morale."

Plays Saturday

Rice, a No. 3 Houston draft choice, cannot be signed until after his team plays Arkansas in the Cotton Bowl game Saturday.

Rice now is available to any other NFL club which may be interested, said Halas, who indicated he would expect some sort of compensation from any club successful in signing Rice away from Houston.

Halas now has bagged two behemoth tackles from small colleges, the 276-pound McRae and 285-pound Frank Cornish of Grambling College, an 11th round future pick a year ago.

the kind of defense Green Bay uses. All well and good, but it will still be Nitschke, the reformed wild man with old No. 66 on his back, who will be trying to block the middle.

"We know we have to stop Jim Brown," said the 6-foot-3, 230-pound former Illinois fullback. "We all know it."

Excellent Receivers

"They have built their offense around him. If we can stop their running, maybe we can make them throw the ball up for grabs. They have excellent receivers, too, in Paul Warfield and Gary Collins," he said.

"In most four-man line setups," Nitschke added, "the middle linebacker is in on most running plays. He keys off the fullback. I'll be going where Jim Brown goes. At least I hope I'll be there. That's my job. When he goes wide, I'll be in the pursuit."

"We know they'll try to go up the middle right from the start," he said. "It's the safest thing to do, especially if the field should be slippery. It is my job to be in the right places. I

Terms Browns' Defensive Line 'A Little Light'

Skorich Getting Front Four Set For Title Game

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The Cleveland Browns' defensive line, anchored at the ends by a minister and a teacher, is a bit on the skimpy side by National Football League standards.

"They are a little light," admits defensive line coach Nick Skorich, who is tutoring his front four this week for the NFL championship game Sunday against the Green Bay Packers.

Skorich has Paul Wiggins, a 6-foot-3, 245-pounder, at one end and Bill Glass, 6-5, 255 pounds, on the other side. Wiggins has taught at college of San Mateo in California during the past two off-seasons, and Glass is a Baptist minister.

In between the ends are tackles Dick Modzelewski, 245 pounds, and Jim Kanicki, heaviest of the four at 270 pounds. Skorich says most NFL defensive lines average 265 to 275 pounds.

Become Regulars

Skorich didn't have his present defense set until last year, when Modzelewski and Kanicki became regulars. Modzelewski came in a trade from the New York Giants and took over when Frank Parker was injured in the opener.

Kanicki stepped in when Bob Gain broke his leg. It was this defense which shut out the Baltimore Colts, 27-0 for the NFL title last year. Now they have a year's experience together and Kanicki says "our front four is working better as a unit."

The range of NFL experience goes from Modzelewski's 13 years to Kanicki's three. Wiggins is in his ninth year, and Glass is an eight year veteran.

Browns' Coach Blanton Collier has given Modzelewski much of the credit for helping mold the defense. The former Giant was a steady influence during Kanicki's sophomore year. After the championship game last season, Collier walked up to Modzelewski in the locker room and said dimly, "Thanks, Mo."

Kanicki admits he was scared a year ago, but now "I know pretty much what to look for."

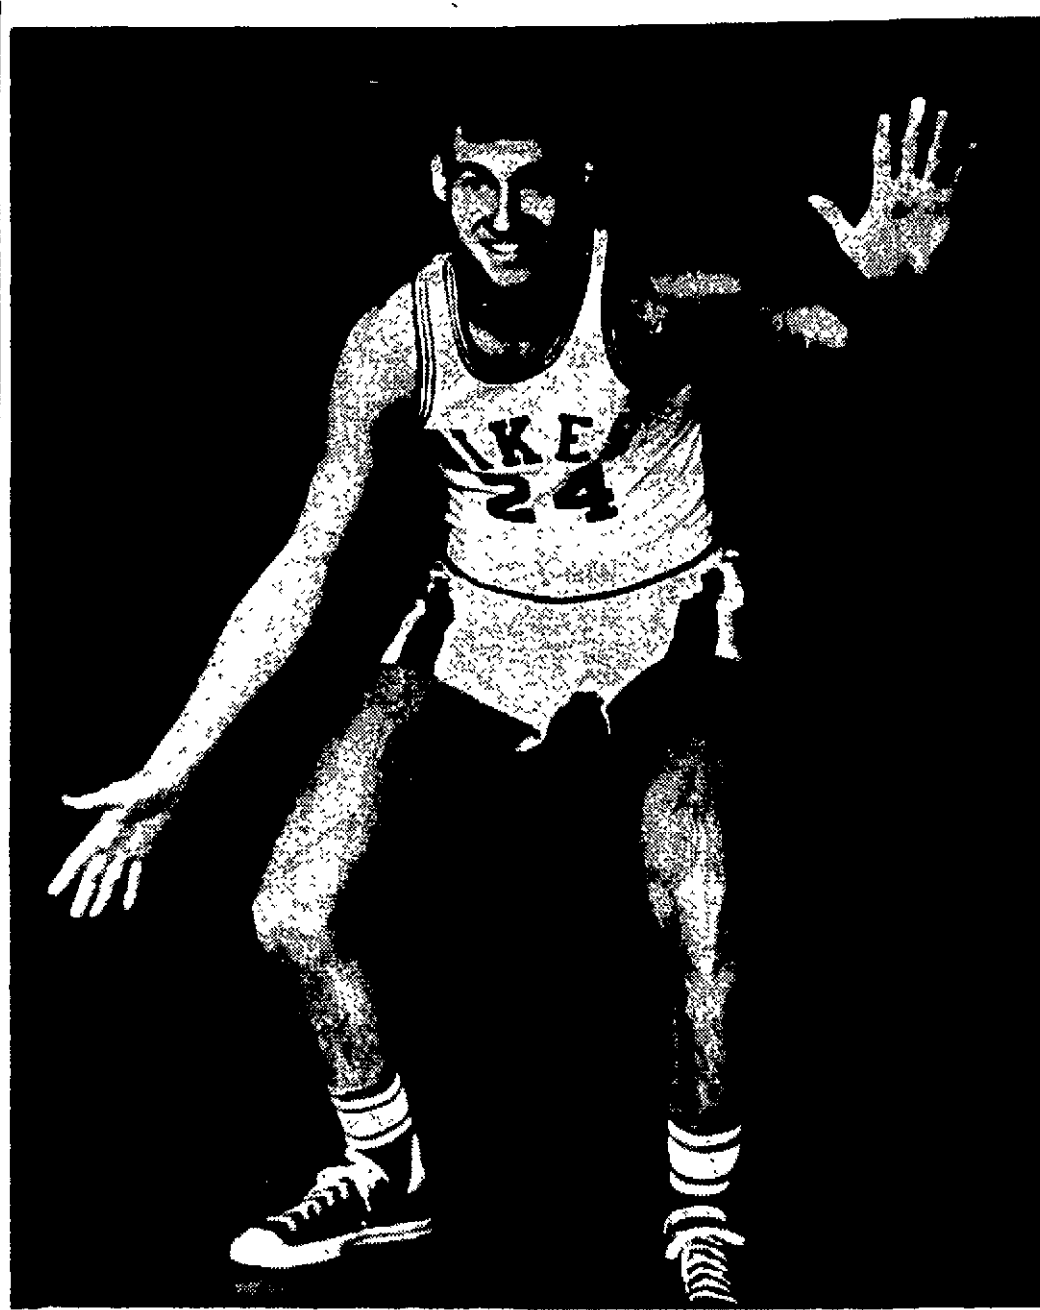

Tom Matte Receives Encouragement From Third-String QB

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Tom Matte received a special word of encouragement before he quarterbacked the Baltimore Colts Sunday in a National Football League Western Conference playoff game against Green Bay.

The converted halfback, filling in for injured quarterbacks John Unilas and Gary Cuzzo, almost directed an upset before the Colts lost 13-10 in sudden-death overtime.

During practice last week, Matte received a telegram from a student at Loyola High School here which read:

"Good luck from another third-string quarterback."

Steve Simon, a Sophomore from Milwaukee, will be in the starting lineup for Lawrence University tonight when the Vikings face Northland College at 7 p.m. at Alexander Gymnasium in the opening game of the Lawrence Holiday Tournament. Simon ranks as the second highest scorer on the Lawrence team with an average of 17.8 per game. St. Norbert College faces Milton in the other first-round game. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Marquette Faces Evansville In Finals of Tournament

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (AP) —

Marquette overcame stubborn Yale 74-68 for its fourth straight basketball victory Tuesday night and a berth opposite Evansville, the nation's top-ranked small college team, in the finals of the Evansville Invitational.

The Aces, defending NCAA college division champions, cut down Kent State 114-88 in the other opening night game.

Marquette, trailing by as much as nine points in the first half, trimmed the gap to one by intermission, then hit five straight points at the start of the second half to surge ahead.

Yale and the Warriors each sank 29 field goals and 43 percent from the floor, but Marquette dropped 16 of 24 free throws for the victory.

It was the first time the Warriors ever put together a four-game winning string under Coach Al McGuire.

Flynn, Wolf Lead

Tom Flynn and Bob Wolf led Marquette with 20 and 18 points, respectively. Bert Broadfoot hit 20 for Yale.

Marquette, now 6-3, began its string by upsetting West Virginia in the first round of the Milwaukee Classic and will be bidding for its second tournament championship of the holiday season tonight against Evansville.

The Warriors sagged badly in the first half as Yale shot 50 percent from the floor and opened a 21-3 edge. Marquette trailed 29-20 when Flynn, Wolf and Blanton Simmons triggered a rally to cut the margin to 37-36 at halftime.

Paul Carbins' basket shot Marquette ahead at the start of the second half. Wolf added a jump shot and Carbins contributed a free throw for a lead Yale denied but never erased.

Pulled Away

Marquette pulled ahead 54-47 then let Yale draw within 57-55 before the Warriors pulled away again.

Marquette went into a deliberate offense to eat away the clock and retain its margin in the closing minutes. The delaying game sprang loose Brad Luchini and Brian Brunkhorst for easy layups to protect the lead.

Brunkhorst scored 10 points in the closing minutes to finish as Marquette's third highest scorer.

Broadfoot got only 5 of his 20 in the second half as Wolf held down the Yale scoring leader.

Marquette, with a reputation as a foul-prone team, won the game by avoiding infractions against Yale. The Bulldogs were caught on 18 fouls and Marquette on 14.

10 Free Throws

As a result, Yale got only 17 free throws and hit only 10 to finish six points behind Marquette at the foul line and six behind in the total score.

It was the first time in 65 games dating back to the 1962-63 season that Marquette had won four straight. It was only the Warriors' second victory on the road this season. Yale is now 4-3.

Evansville, now 6-2, built a 51-38 halftime lead against Kent State and romped home with ease.

Larry Humes, the nation's third highest individual scorer among small colleges, paced the Aces with 34 points. Sam Watkins added 25 while Kent State was led by Art Kusyner with 29.

Nixon Second NFL Coach To be Fired

Pittsburgh Mentor Says Rooney Action Was No Surprise

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — Mike Nixon, sudden heir to a football team beset with injuries, inexperience and quarterback problems, has been fired as head coach of the Pittsburgh Steelers.

Steeler owner Art Rooney, who named Nixon interim coach in the wake of Buddy Parker's abrupt resignation just two weeks before the National Football League season began, dismissed Nixon Tuesday. Rooney cited the dismal 2-12 record Pittsburgh compiled under Nixon's guidance.

"The way the ball club did — that's why we let Mike go," said Rooney, who purchased the Steelers in 1933 and has yet to field a divisional winner. Pittsburgh finished last in the Eastern Conference this year.

Nixon was the second NFL coach dismissed in the past week. Harland Svare was fired by the Los Angeles Rams. Nixon's assistants — Lavern Torgerson, Tom Keane, Ernie Hefferle and Jim Doran — also were let go.

Few Names In Mind

Rooney said the Steelers will begin interviewing candidates for the post and said he has a few names in mind. He declined to identify them.

Rooney said he and Nixon agreed before the regular season that Nixon would serve for one year. Nixon, who had expressed the hope he would get another chance to mold a winner, said the dismissal came as no surprise.

"How can you justify a 2-12 record?" he said.

This is the second time an NFL club has fired Nixon. He was let go by the Washington Redskins after a 4-18-2 record in 1959-60.

Nixon said lack of an experienced quarterback was Pittsburgh's biggest drawback. He used Bill Nelsen, a three-year veteran with limited experience, at the post almost all year.

The Steelers were further hampered by the loss of fullback John Henry Johnson and linebackers Bill Saul and Myron Potlits because of injuries.

Nixon said he has no immediate plans. He said he has spent 26 years in professional football and hopes to continue in the sport.

Frank Emanuel, 3 Others Signed By Miami Club

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Miami of the American Football League said Tuesday it signed four University of Tennessee players to contracts.

They are: Frank Emanuel, a middle linebacker and co-captain of the Tennessee team, fourth draft choice of the Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League and second of the Dolphins.

Bob Petrella, defensive back, eighth draft choice of the Dolphins and 12th of the Minnesota Vikings.

Stan Mitchell, fullback who was eighth choice of the Washington Redskins, an AFL free agent.

Hal Wantland, defensive back, who was 15th draft choice of the Washington Redskins and a free agent in the AFL.

Vanderbilt Rolls To 113-98 Tourney Win Over Syracuse

10th-Ranked Providence Downs Illinois in ECAC Holiday Test

By DICK COUCH Associated Press Sports Writer
It took some time for tall Clyde Lee to get used to short pants and a lot longer to get mad. Now Clyde is a tiger and the Vanderbilt Commodores are running wild.

Vanderbilt, the nation's No. 2 college basketball power, rolled to its ninth straight victory Tuesday night, outscoring previously unbeaten Syracuse 113-98 in the first round of the Los Angeles Classic as 6-foot-9 pivot Lee poured in 39 points.

Lee's 31-point second half enabled the Commodores to withstand a record 46-point binge by Syracuse ace Dave Bing and hand the Orange its first setback in seven starts.

A few years ago, Lee was a timid teenager who stood 6-foot-4 and didn't like it. "I didn't play basketball then," he recalls, "because I wouldn't be caught, dead in those short pants."

Out of Shell

His high school coach eventually won Clyde over to basketball but it took some reverse psychology by Vanderbilt pilot Roy Skinner last season to bring the shy center out of his shell. Skinner showed Lee an opposing team's scouting report that rated him a poor defensive player, an indifferent rebounder and an easy mark to push around.

Lee responded with a school record of 26 rebounds in his next game, topped the rebound mark again a few nights later and has been a terror off and around the boards ever since.

Blanked by Syracuse for the first 17 minutes Tuesday night, Lee broke loose for eight straight points that gave the Commodores a 49-44 halftime edge and hit repeatedly from inside after intermission. His second half spree countered the torrid shooting of Bing, who broke the tourney single-game point record set by Utah's Bill McGill in 1961.

In Semifinals

The victory sent Vanderbilt into Wednesday night's semifinals with Southern California, 75-63 victor over Northwestern in Tuesday night's second game, and UCLA and Purdue, who won their Monday openers.

Tenth-ranked Providence, only other member of the Top Ten in action, edged Illinois 81-79 on Bill Blair's tap-in with three seconds to play and gained the final of the ECAC Holiday Festival at New York. The Friars, 7-1, meet Boston College, which whipped Army 85-82 behind John Austin's 25 points, for the title Thursday night.

Wesley Unseld and Dorie Murrey, a pair of 6-foot-8 leapers, sparked Louisville and Detroit to tournament championships at Miami and Detroit, respectively.

Scores 26 Points

Unseld scored 26 points and grabbed 21 rebounds before Wade Houston hit a long one-handed at the final buzzer, lifting Louisville past Miami, Fla., 85-84 in the overtime final of the Hurricane Classic.

Murrey totaled 26 points and 18 rebounds as Detroit trimmed William & Mary 80-65 for the Motor City Classic crown. Eddie Botkin's 37 points paced Eastern Kentucky to a 90-76 romp over Harvard in the consolation game at Detroit.

Navy pulled off the night's biggest upset, stunning powerful Davidson 65-60 in the opening round of the Charlotte, N.C., Invitational behind Jim Snook's 18 points. The loss was Davidson's second in nine games. Soph John Haarlow caged 18 points as Princeton nipped Mississippi State 69-67 to gain the tourney final against the Mid-dies.

Walt Wesley, Kansas' 6-foot-11 center, outscored 7-foot-1 Nick Pihl of Kansas State 24-12, leading the Jayhawkers to a 69-63 decision over the Wildcats in the first round of the Big Eight Tourney. Iowa State topped Colorado, 69-72, joining Kansas, Nebraska and Oklahoma in the semifinals.

Virginia Tech, beaten only by top-ranked Duke in six starts, overpowered Texas A&M 101-74 and tourney favorite Wichita nipped Xavier, Ohio, 82-81, completing the first round of the All College Tournament at Oklahoma City. The host school and Rhode Island reached the semis with victories Monday night.

In non-tournament action, Cincinnati boosted its record to 7-1 and snapped Utah's unbeaten skein by humbling the Redskins 84-66 at Cincinnati, Ohio. Utah had averaged 107 points per game while winning seven straight in its home floor.

Paces Ohio State and Bob Dove threw in 23 points, pacing Ohio State to an 88-81 triumph over Wake Forest at Columbus, Ohio, and Connecticut, which has Paul Coppo at center and John Harpell at left wing. Player-coach John Mayasich has indicated Following tonight's match, the Bobcats return to the Brown County Veterans Memorial Arena Saturday night to make Humes hit for 34 points. Their first home start since Dec. 4 against the potent Marquette, 74-68 winner over Yale, in Wednesday night's final.

Collarbone Fully Healed

Paul Warfield Set For Game Sunday

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — a key figure in the Browns' offense last year — so much so Frank Ryan's favorite target in Cleveland's drive for the National Football League championship last year, is healthy and looking forward to Sunday's NFL title contest at Green Bay.

If the Browns' fine young flanker goes all the way against the Packers it will be the first time this year he has finished a record game. He started only twice.

The speedster from Ohio State Warfield's collarbone was shattered Aug. 6 in the game against the college All Stars — This made it tougher for opponents to cover receiver Gary Collins, who caught three touchdowns into action until the Dec. 12 downs passes in the Browns' 27-game at Los Angeles. That was 10 victory over Baltimore in the after the Browns already had wrapped up the Eastern Conference championship.

In that game, Warfield suffered a bruise in the same area where surgery had been performed on his collarbone, and he was out for the final game at St. Louis Dec. 13.

The 23-year-old receiver was straight points that gave the Commodores a 49-44 halftime edge and hit repeatedly from inside after intermission. His second half spree countered the torrid shooting of Bing, who broke the tourney single-game point record set by Utah's Bill McGill in 1961.

Unseld scored 26 points and grabbed 21 rebounds before Wade Houston hit a long one-handed at the final buzzer, lifting Louisville past Miami, Fla., 85-84 in the overtime final of the Hurricane Classic.

Paul Warfield, a pass-catching star for the Cleveland Browns, is ready for action in Sunday's National Football League title game against Green Bay. Broncos' Berry Has Infected Kidney Removed DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Odell Berry, kick return specialist with the Denver Broncos, was reported doing fine Tuesday night following surgery to remove an infected kidney.

An official of the American Football League club said doctors pronounced the operation a complete success and expected the 23-year-old Berry to be released from the hospital in a week or 10 days.

A Bronco official said earlier the surgery ended Berry's football career.

The game Saturday night sends the lightest team Bryant ever coached against a massive, unbeaten Cornhusker squad with linemen of better than 250 pounds and a stampeding backfield quartet of Fred Duda, Harry Wilson, Ron Kirkland and Frank Solich, who led the country in rushing offense.

It's also a battle between the nation's No. 3—Nebraska—and No. 4—Alabama—ranked teams.

Although he hails from the midlands, Christman, now a television announcer, can't be swayed from a partiality toward the wiry, tough Alabama team whose 8-1 record is overshadowed by Nebraska's imposing 10-0 mark.

"Nebraska is a good team, a big one," Christman said, "but I saw them against Missouri, and Missouri should have won by two touchdowns (Nebraska won 16-14)."

"I'm afraid Alabama will be too tough for the big boys," the old Missouri signal caller recalled the drastic changes that have been wrought in football by the years and skyrocketing finances.

Paul Brown Encouraged by His 'Selling' of Cincinnati

By AL HEI

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Paul Brown is busy "selling" Cincinnati to the National Football League owners and the results are encouraging.

"I've contacted many of the owners and I am encouraged by their reaction," said Brown in an interview with the Enquirer from his home in La Jolla Calif. "Just how much of this is personal, since I have been associated with these men in the past, I don't know but I'm hope-fully optimistic that Cincinnati will get the franchise."

Brown, former coach of the Cleveland Browns, is seeking to bring an NFL franchise to Cincinnati when the league expands, in 1967. Brown would be coach and general manager of the new team.

Big League City
"Cincinnati is already a big league city and the owners in the National Football League know it," he continued.

The former Cleveland coach said there is "a new theory seeping into the NFL against the so-called vacation cities like San Diego and Miami."

"In these semivacation areas, people have so many other things going on — golf, deep sea fishing, all kinds of outdoor sports — that they many times won't attend the games."

Brown then said that an industrial city like Cincinnati has more going for it as far as the NFL is concerned than the vacation cities.

He said he would be pushing Cincinnati when the NFL own-

Orange Bowl had only the lower stands—seating about 25,000," he recalled. "I remember every boy on the team got a box with two pair of socks. It was their Christmas present, donated by a local merchant."

"You didn't have the pro scouts standing around with unlimited check books. I had been a two-time All-America, but the best offer I got was $6,500 for a year, no bonus."

Christman went into the service and joined the pro St. Louis Cardinals when he got out.

"Two hundred bucks a game was good wages for a player then," he said. "You'd get a check sometimes for $176.68. It was your salary with deductions for money you'd asked in advance."

"Now they're talking about $800,000 for halfback from Texas Tech (Donny Anderson)."

Red Wings Move Within 2 Points Of NHL Lead

BOSTON (AP) — The Detroit Red Wings are parlaying an aggressive defense anchored by goalie Roger Crozier and mastery of the Boston Bruins in a bid for a second straight National Hockey League championship.

The hustling Red Wings moved to within two points of the first-place Montreal Canadiens by defeating the Bruins for the seventh straight time Tuesday night as Crozier registered his second consecutive 1-0 shut-out. It was the only league action.

"Have you ever seen a club check like that?" Boston Coach Milt Schmidt asked in amazement after the Wings made the Bruins look like a group of complete strangers."

Stout Suffers First Defeat; Beloit Wins

Carroll Handed 101-83 Setback by Carleton in Meet

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Wisconsin lost its only unbeaten college basketball team but gained another in holiday holiday tourneys Tuesday night.

Stout, winner of six straight games and leader of the State University Conference, was up-ended 96-69 in the St. Cloud, Minn., tourney by a St. John's, Minn., team that had won only one previous game.

But Beloit College, finally starting its season, made its record spotless 1-0 by belting Winona State, Minn., 90-66 in the Carroll Tournament.

Dominican was the only other Wisconsin quintet able to win as it stopped Illinois - Chicago 103-92 in the Racine Invitational.

Carroll Winless

Winless Carroll lost its seventh straight to Carleton 101-83 in the Decorah, Iowa, Meet.

The tourney pace picks up with opening games tonight in holiday meets at Lawrence and La Crosse.

St. John's, with a 1-4 record before meeting Stout, got a 32-point boost from Joe Mucha, playing his first game after the end of a football season which brought national honors to the Johnnies.

Stout trailed 49-40 at halftime and wilted badly afterwards. Five other St. John's players were in double figures along with Mucha, while Jerry Kissman led the Blue Devils with 22.

Beloit, which delayed its basketball beginning until the holidays because of an unorthodox academic schedule, led Winona by 49-30 at halftime and quickly built its command to 64-34 early in the second half. Phil Wooley paced Beloit with 23 points.

Big Halftime Lead

Once-beaten Carleton ran up a 51-29 halftime lead and was in no trouble against Carroll, most this year for the annual meet which has a fixed field but rotating site. Beloit has taken the crown the last two years.

Defending champion Luther outscored Carthage 79-48 en route to a 101-83 victory in the opening round of its own tournament. Alex Rowell had 29 points for Luther and Jack Lutz 22 for Carthage.

Augsburg, which had won only one previous game, upset tourney favorite St. Olaf, loser of only one previous, 76-74 in the other game. St. Olaf's high-scoring Jess elson sank a desperation shot at the end, but officials ruled the final buzzer came first.

In addition to the consolation and championship game at Carroll, Luther and Racine tonight, a pair of first round games are on tap at each La Crosse and Lawrence.

Lawrence is pitted against Northland while Milton faces St. Norbert in the other game in the Vikings' tourney.

Santana Beats Roy Emerson in Davis Cup Play

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Defending champion Australia, which had already clinched the Davis Cup, split its final two Challenge Round singles matches with Spain today.

In a match billed as an unofficial world amateur tennis championship, Manuel Santana of Spain defeated Australia's Roy Emerson 2-6, 6-2, 6-4, 15-13. Santana is the American champion and Emerson is the Wimbledon king.

Santana's victory did little more than overjoy the Spaniards in the crowd, of 7,000 at White City Stadium since Australia had already clinched the best-of-five series and the Cup by winning Monday's two singles matches and the doubles Tuesday.

In the other single's today, Fred Stolle of Australia defeated Spain's Manuel Gisbert 6-2, 6-4, 8-6.

Injured Players Improve

Duffy, Prothro Fret About the Weather

By BOB VOGES

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — The threat of a rain-drenched, wind-swept Rose Bowl worried both Michigan State and UCLA football coaches today.

Tournament of Roses parade officials and the fans who snatched up tickets for the 100, 807-seat arena were equally concerned.

The U.S. Weather Bureau said a developing storm might leave about an inch of rain, then move east late Thursday.

The weatherman predicts clear skies Saturday—but Rose Bowl officials and coaches refused to be comforted by the long range forecast.

The Rose Bowl turf already was covered by a tarpaulin, borrowed from the Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum.

"I've never known rain to help anybody," said MSU coach Duffy Daugherty. "But the rain wouldn't hurt as much as a high wind."

"It would be sure to hurt us," commented Bruin coach Tommy Prothro, who has indicated UCLA will go to the air to try to pass over the Spartan defense, tops in the nation against ground attacks.

On the cheerful side, the two rival camps reported improve-ment to injured players.

John Mullen, third string Spartan quarterback, was backing running with the team in practice. Mullen slipped on a defensive play and strained his shoulder last week.

Prothro reported that defensive end Jim Colletto, a senior, will play in this last game of his college eligibility. Colletto dislocated his left wrist in a midseason game against Air Force and only saw action for 20 minutes a few weeks later against Southern California. His wrist was taken out of a cast just this week.

The rival teams worked out in privacy Tuesday.

Michigan State worked its defense for an hour, then put the offense through drills. Daugherty inserted new plays into the workout, especially designed to baffle UCLA.

The coaches again relieved tension by exchanging digs in a telephone conversation broadcast over a public address system for the benefit of newsmen in a pressroom near the Rose Bowl.

"We even worked on extra points, although we'll never use them Saturday," said Prothro. Daugherty asked for the speed of UCLA right half Dick Witcher and end Melvin Farr.

"Witcher does the 100 yards in 08.3 and Farr is a little faster," said Prothro, giving him improbable times.

"People should stop feel-sorry for you," responded Daugherty.

Brooding Over Excess Snow?
Cheer Up, It Could be Worse

As you gaze glumly at the falling snow and brood about galoshes, snow shovels, and aching backs, remember that it could be worse.

Much worse. In 1921, for instance, 76 inches of snow fell at Silver Lake, Colo., in just 24 hours. And at Tahoe, Calif., 108 inches of snow came down between Jan. 12 and 15, 1952.

The record snowfall for a calendar month occurred at Tamarack, Calif., which got 390 inches during January, 1911, according to World Book Encyclopedia. In the same year a record depth of snow accumulated at Tamarack, where 454 inches covered the ground.

The all-time U.S. record for snowfall in one season was set from July, 1955, to June, 1956, when 1,000.3 inches of snow fell at the 5,500-foot level of Mount Rainier, Wash.

All these figures are records, and therefore unusual. But individual snowfalls of 30 inches are not unusual at all. In the hills southeast of Lake Erie and Lake Ontario, the average winter snowfall is more than 150 inches.

Erie, Pa., on the southeast shore of Lake Erie, was buried by a 27-inch snowfall on Thanksgiving Day, 1956.

There are few spots in the United States which never get snow. Snow fell as far south as Lakeland, Fla., near St. Petersburg, in January, 1958.

Today is Wednesday, Dec. 29, the 363rd day of 1965. There are two days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1890, the last fight of any importance between U.S. troops and the Indians took place at Wounded Knee Creek, South Dakota. Some 200 Indians and 30 soldiers were killed in an attempt to disarm the remaining Sioux Indians, leaderless since the death of Sitting Bull.

In 1778, the British captured Savannah, Ga.

In 1845, Texas was admitted to the Union as the 28th state.

In 1863, Arizona was organized as a territory.

In 1934, Japan formally renounced the Washington Naval Treaty of 1922.

In 1944, the Allies cracked the German front in the Belgian Battle of the Bulge.

Ten years ago — Soviet leaders denounced President Dwight D. Eisenhower's Christmas message on liberation of Soviet satellite nations.

Five years ago — The Boun Oum government of Laos appealed to the U.N. for aid against a reported invasion of Laos by troops from Communist North Viet Nam and possibly from Red China.

History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Wednesday, Dec. 29, the 363rd day of 1965. There are two days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1890, the last fight of any importance between U.S. troops and the Indians took place at Wounded Knee Creek, South Dakota. Some 200 Indians and 30 soldiers were killed in an attempt to disarm the remaining Sioux Indians, leaderless since the death of Sitting Bull.

In 1778, the British captured Savannah, Ga.

In 1845, Texas was admitted to the Union as the 28th state.

In 1863, Arizona was organized as a territory.

In 1934, Japan formally renounced the Washington Naval Treaty of 1922.

In 1944, the Allies cracked the German front in the Belgian Battle of the Bulge.

Ten years ago — Soviet leaders denounced President Dwight D. Eisenhower's Christmas message on liberation of Soviet satellite nations.

Five years ago — The Boun Oum government of Laos appealed to the U.N. for aid against a reported invasion of Laos by troops from Communist North Viet Nam and possibly from Red China.

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Former Sen. Barry Goldwater has conquered the trombone and is taking up the tuba.

Domestic Program Spending Must be Kept Up, Case Says

Dirksen Insists Funds First Are Needed in Defense Budget

By JACK BELL.
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Clifford P. Case said today the conflict in Viet Nam must not be allowed to punch off funds for the war on discrimination, poverty, disease and ignorance at home.

But Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen said that "we must fight the war first" and that domestic programs are going to have to be cut back to provide for sharp increases in the defense budget.

Case, New Jersey Republican who is a member of the Senate Appropriations Committee, called in a statement for increased federal outlays for education. He said that "the federal contribution has become a vital ingredient in our total educational effort and we simply cannot afford to scale back this effort at any level, federal, state or local."

Long-Run Security
"There is a wide range of federal activities, many of them recently authorized or expanded, that bear importantly on national goals with the same top priority as our commitment in Viet Nam," Case said. "The wars we wage against discrimination, poverty, disease and ignorance are also vital to our long-run security."

Case thus lined up with neighboring Sen. Robert F. Kennedy,

Doctors Aim For Prevention

Physician Foresees Work Done in Teams Within 10 Years

Little Rock, Ark., he said "we've got to decide where to retreat."

He will be a member of a team caring for you.

The stress will be on preventing illness in the first place.

Almost all your medical services will be paid with government or welfare funds.

You may have as many as 30 or more tests run — most of them simple — with automated equipment and a computer analyzing the results initially for your doctor.

But you will get total, comprehensive care with one doctor taking personal charge of you regardless of how many specialists you might see.

'Medical Explosion'
The predictions — and "it is precarious trying to prognosticate" — came from Dr. C.C. Cutting, executive director of the Permanente Medical Group, Oakland, Calif.

"We are standing on the brink of a medical care explosion," due to vastly expanded knowledge, greater public interest and a rash of health legislation, Dr. Cutting told the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

"The resulting tremendous demand, coupled with a serious shortage of medical manpower, will of necessity sweep traditional medicine into entirely new concepts of providing service" by 1975, he said.

Divisions of Medicine
Eventually, Dr. Cutting said, "there probably will be three major divisions of medicine":

Health care — New and better efforts to keep you well.

Predictive care — Spotting symptoms very early to prevent serious illness.

Sickness care — If or when you do fall victim to disease. But "perhaps most of sick care will be transplants and artificial organs, a sort of spare-part medicine."

Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Bragassa of Raleigh, N. C., returned home Monday from their honeymoon to find their bedroom literally filled with newspapers. Friends had stuffed papers into the bedroom so tightly Bragassa couldn't get in the door. So he went to the bedroom window and began pulling papers out. He had accumulated this pile after only a few minutes work. His car was too small to carry the papers to the junkyard and he had to hire a truck to haul them away. Friends also filled his refrigerator with wood. (AP Wirephoto)

Humphrey in Manila for Oath Of Ferdinand Marcos as President

Johnson Works on New Budget War Appropriation Will be Sent to Congress Separately

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson pushes ahead today with work on his new budget after reviewing costs of the Viet Nam war — and possibilities for peace — with Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

Johnson and McNamara are pretty well agreed on a supplemental defense appropriation request, to finance Viet Nam outlays, that will go to Congress in a package separate from the regular budget.

The President already has gotten $1.7 billion of additional funds for the war. The supplemental request is expected to be about $2 billion or more.

As in the past, Johnson would presumably interpret any lopsided congressional votes for the added money as a mandate for his policies in Viet Nam.

Promote Peace
Even while considering military funds, however, Johnson was much occupied with moves to promote a peaceful settlement of the war that might make needless new money requests for the coming fiscal year, starting July 1.

The White House, which has kept silent on all Viet Nam developments in recent days, did announce before McNamara's departure Tuesday that he and Johnson talked about Viet Nam, including moves to quiet the fighting there.

This was the first word from the White House that Johnson had discussed Viet Nam since his arrival here more than a week ago.

Though no one doubted the President was keeping close tabs on vital questions of war and peace, the White House had maintained a solid silence on the subject.

MANILA (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey arrived in Manila today on the second stop of his brief Asian tour after asking the Japanese government to help bring peace to Viet Nam.

Humphrey will represent the United States at the inauguration Thursday of President Ferdinand E. Marcos.

During his 18-hour stopover in Tokyo, Humphrey asked Prime Minister Eisaku Sato for the help of Japan "for any other government" to achieve peace in Viet Nam.

All humanity would appreciate Japan's efforts if they succeeded, Humphrey told Sato during a 93-minute conference earlier today. Their talks were closed but newsmen were told what was said by U.S. Embassy counselor J. Owen Zurhellen Jr.

No Japanese Reply
Humphrey apparently was not expecting a Japanese reply to his appeal, and Zurhellen said it was in such general terms that none was called for.

Humphrey's statements seemed to be directed more at Japanese critics of American policy in Viet Nam than at the government, which supports the U.S. stand.

Zurhellen said Humphrey gave Sato a document outlining 190 conversations which Secretary of State Dean Rusk had held with diplomats and other persons in an effort to get a peace conference. It also enumerated 14 other actions Rusk took in "the pursuit of peace."

The vice president said the American people look forward to a time when the great resources now being used for the war can be applied to peaceful progress instead.

Peace Guarantee
He told Sato that when demonstrators call for the United States to "get out of Viet Nam," that is just what the United States wants to do. But he added it would not do so until the freedom and peace of Viet Nam are guaranteed.

He wound up his conversation by urging Japan to extend more social, economic and medical aid to Southeast Asia, particularly to the refugees of South Viet Nam, but he did not ask Japan for military aid.

The Japanese constitution bars sending military men overseas.

U.S. Ambassador Edwin O. Reischauer, presidential assistant Jack Valenti and Zurhellen were present during Humphrey's talks with Sato.

Emperor Hirohito received the vice president in a long audience earlier.

Praise, Criticism Surround Film on Wisconsin's Virtues

MILWAUKEE (AP) — There was praise and criticism alike for the 60-minute color film of Wisconsin Tuesday night on statewide television.

"We Like It Here" was a $50,000 joint venture by the State Department of Resource Development and private industry. It is designed to promote economic development of Wisconsin.

"It was an optimistic picture," said Leslie Aspin, a former aide of Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., "but we should emphasize the positive. The only thing I wonder is why it was shown in Wisconsin. It was a little like showing pictures of Old Faithful to the bears at Yellowstone Park."

The technical work on the film and its music received many compliments. But there were some complaints by city officials in different parts of the 'Mission' to Hanoi Did Not Get OK of State Department

NEW YORK (AP) — A self-appointed three-man mission to Hanoi bypassed the U.S. State Department in hopes of getting first-hand information on the peace intentions of the North Viet Nam Communists, says an editor of the magazine which sponsored the trip.

"Quite frankly, government permission was not sought," said John McDermott, associate editor of Viet-Report, at a news conference Tuesday.

"It is our duty to get the news and we're going after it," he said.

Federal law provides penalties of up to five years in prison and a $5,000 fine for some unauthorized trips to foreign countries.

History Professor
Those who went to Hanoi, capital of North Viet Nam, are Staughton Lynd, 36, an associate history professor at Yale University; Herbert Aptheker, 50, a Communist party veteran; and Thomas Hayden, 26, who has been active in student and civil rights groups.

McDermott said only Lynd represents the magazine on the trip, and added: "I really cannot comment on the other two, although we'll certainly be interested in their stories."

McDermott said information received by Viet-Report "convinced us that the National Liberation Front (Viet Cong) and the Democratic Republic of (North) Viet Nam would willingly move to end the war if two fundamental principles were satisfied."

National Reconciliation
He said the principles were: — "That a government of national reconciliation be constituted in South Viet Nam."

— "That the process of eventual reunification of this severed nation be set in motion."

The Viet Cong, McDermott said, "has not demanded a monopoly of power in the south, but it has demanded that a new government come into power which will represent the actual balance of forces in South Viet Nam."

He said he expected Lynd to return to the United States in about two weeks. "We will make contact with him shortly," McDermott said, "and will make every effort to keep you informed, passing on to you immediately any relevant information we can obtain."

The three men left New York by plane 10 days ago. They acted on an invitation which Aptheker received from Hanoi while he was attending a peace conference in Finland last summer.

Viet-Report describes itself as a monthly, publishing first-hand reports, analyses in depth and important documents on the Viet Nam war. The magazine was founded last July by Miss Carol Brightman, a 26-year-old graduate assistant at New York University.

State Department press officer Robert J. McCloskey said in Washington Tuesday that he did not have sufficient information about the mission to Hanoi to speculate on what action might be taken against the three men.

Tornado Photo Tops State Poll

MILWAUKEE (AP) — A portrait of disaster, graphically told in the grief of a woman standing amidst the wreckage of her farm home, was picked today the top news picture of 1965 on The Associated Press' Wisconsin Wirephoto Network.

The shot of the woman, her worn hands clasped helplessly in front of her, while behind her a crane lifted the body of a cow from a shattered barn, was made in the aftermath of the spring tornadoes by S. Niels Lauritzen of The Milwaukee Journal.

Lauritzen's shot previously won the news picture prize for April.

Top feature picture of the year for the state, according to the newsmen, was one of the most widely-played photographs of the year. Taken by Paul J. Shane of the La Crosse Tribune, it was a two-picture series, showing first, from a rear view, a young man sitting in a convertible with what appeared to be a gorgeous blonde beside him. The second picture, from the side, showed the blonde head belonged to an Afghan hound. It was a state and national feature winner in July.

state who thought their cities were slighted in the film.

Democrats were divided in their assessment of the film's political implications, if any. Aspin and State Sen. Richard Zaborski, D-Milwaukee, said they did not consider the show a political venture.

Abe Swed, a prominent Milwaukee area Democrat, called the film a "coverup" for inaction by Republican Gov. Warren Knowles.

Soviets Trying to Reduce Chinese Influence in Hanoi

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union is preparing a strong bid to increase its influence in Hanoi by trying to reduce Red Chinese influence there.

The result of the Soviet effort will have a major bearing on the course of the Vietnamese war and, therefore, on Soviet-U.S. relations. They have been soured by the war.

Indications are that Soviet influence will be used to try to bring peace in Viet Nam. But the Russians could, instead, decide to step up support for a Communist victory effort.

These conclusions were drawn today by experienced observers from an announcement that Alexander N. Shelepin will shortly lead a Soviet delegation to Hanoi, the North Vietnamese capital.

'Second Secretary'
Shelepin, 47, holds the "second secretary" post in the Soviet Communist party next to party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev, according to Communist sources. Since the party runs the Soviet Union, this makes Shelepin one of the most powerful men in the nation.

The former chief of the Soviet secret police also is an experienced troubleshooter in Communist countries where Moscow-Peking rivalry for influence is intense. He was in Mongolia and North Korea earlier this year.

North Viet Nam seems to be leaning increasingly toward Moscow lately. It has praised Soviet military aid at a time when Peking is attacking the aid as inadequate. It has ignored some Chinese calls for a tougher line within the world Communist movement.

The rivalry in North Viet Nam has been building up since the last high-level Soviet visit to Hanoi. Premier Alexei M. Kosygin was there last February when the United States began regular bombing of North Viet Nam.

Force Decision
China said Nov. 11 that a division must be drawn between its supporters in the Communist world and pro-Soviet parties.

If Peking pushes this, as it is believed will happen, President Ho Chi Minh's regime in North Viet Nam could be forced to choose between the big neighbor on his northern border and more distant Soviet support.

Peking has made clear that its influence will be used for a bitter-end battle in Viet Nam.

The Russians seem to support a negotiated settlement that would allow an improvement in Soviet-American relations. This would permit Soviet leaders to turn more attention and resources to domestic problems.

But, partly because of Chinese criticism and partly because of concern for their image as Communist revolutionaries, Soviet leaders are cautious about openly advocating a settlement. They have denounced the United States over Viet Nam with increasing vehemence.

U. S. Running Out Of Cheap Water, Scientist Claims

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — The United States "will never run out of water—but we will run out of cheap water," an expert said today.

In coming years, "it will cost fantastic sums" to make water available where needed and to maintain quality, said Harvey O. Banks, a San Francisco consultant on water resources development.

Speaking to the American Association for the Advancement of Science, Banks urged states to set up "integrated, over-all management of their water resources, both surface and ground water."

"States must act to protect their own interests in water for drinking, industry, recreation and fish and wildlife maintenance," he said, but only a few are doing so yet.

"At the federal level there is no basic body of water law nor over-all policy," but there now are some steps in this direction, he added.

Menasha Student to Join Pilot Industry Study

HERWOOD — William Peters, Stout University sophomore, is among 10 industrial technology students selected to participate in the first "pilot" of a new 4-year cooperative program with industry.

A 1964 graduate of Kaukauna School, Peters is the son of Mrs. Sylvester Peters, 111 E. Menasha.

Peters will begin alternating periods between industry and campus beginning next semester working for A. O. Smith Engineering Co.

While with industry he will receive special training and university credits, and will continue alternating for two years. It will still enable him to graduate in four years from the date of enrollment. He also will receive more than $5,000 in expenses during his training period.

Jack Ganzemiller, co-ordinator of the cooperative education program at Stout, said interest from companies and students for the 1967 program has increased to the number of participants next year could triple.

A Maze of Hose and fire fighting equipment filled the 100 block of W. College Avenue Tuesday night as firemen fought a $250,000 blaze in the Columbia building in downtown Appleton. Across the street hundreds of spectators watched as firemen worked about three hours to bring the fire under control. The view was from the top of the Zuelke building. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Approximately An Hour after the alarm was sounded firemen were still battling flames in the Columbia building on downtown College Avenue, finally bringing the $250,000 fire under control about 9 p.m. Tuesday. These firemen were working from the College Avenue side. There was additional damage, largely from smoke, in adjoining Brettschneider and Rose Shop buildings as well as the Zuelke building. One fireman received a cut hand in battling the blaze. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Bulging Mail Sacks Contain 1 1/2 Million State Tax Forms

Legislature Okayed Simpler Rules For 1965, Similar to Federal

MADISON — Bulging sacks of mail from the State Tax Department's offices this week contain more than 1,500,000 sets of personal income tax forms which Wisconsin taxpayers are required to fill out and return before the April 15 deadline for the satisfaction of their state income tax liability.

For several hundreds of thousands of them the task will be easier than ever before, as a result of the income tax simplification rules enacted by the legislature.

They are those persons who are subject to state income tax withholding on virtually all of their taxable incomes, and who

NFO Is State's Second Largest Farmer Group

New Organization Gains Prominence; Trails Farm Bureau

MADISON (AP)—Two University of Wisconsin researchers reported Tuesday that the National Farmers Organization has become the state's second largest farm organization. NFO is Wisconsin's newest group, dating to 1960. In recent years it has been active in trying to obtain guaranteed prices for farm products.

Donald E. Johnson and W. Keith Warner, rural sociologists, made the survey.

They said the Farm Bureau leads in membership with more than 16,000. They projected NFO membership at 13,900, adding that the figure is based on a representative sample. NFO membership figures are not released as a matter of policy.

Driver in Fatal Crash Given 1-Year Jail Term

Gregory Popke, New London, Had Received Warning Letter 4 Days Before Accident

Gregory R. Popke, 19, who just prior to the crash which occurred near a curve and the crest of a hill.

Killed at Greenville

Killed in the early evening accident on U.S. 45, a mile west of Greenville, Corners were Charles R. Bradie, 19, driver of one car, his sister, Ruth, 10, and a brother, Michael, 2.

Mrs. Clarence Bradie, 40, mother of the victims, still is in Appleton Memorial Hospital recovering from injuries she received in the accident.

A relative at Park Falls today said Mrs. Bradie "is just starting to walk again," although her general condition is good. Mrs. Bradie is expected to be released from the hospital in February. Most serious of her injuries were back damage and broken legs, the relative said.

Released from Hospital

Also injured were Miss Sandra Wehrman, 16, Park Falls, and Barbara Bradie, the victims' sister. They were released from the hospital some time ago, it was learned. Popke, who was alone in his car, was not seriously injured.

Dist. Atty. Nick F. Schaefer, who Tuesday termed the accident "one of the most serious and tragic in Outagamie County," told the court that from Nov. 16, 1964 to Sept. 14, 1965, Popke was arrested for failure to obey a traffic signal, illegal passing and speeding.

On Sept. 27, Popke was sent a "warning letter" from the Wisconsin Motor Vehicle Department, Schaefer said. Such letters warn a motorist that his driving record is being examined and remind him of the "driving points" he has lost and those that remain.

Third Time

Judge Keller, stating that this is the third time in six weeks drivers have been in his court on violations of traffic regulations in connection with fatal accidents, suggested to Popke that he request county authorities grant him permission to serve the sentence under the Huber Law.

This would allow him to get out of jail during working hours only.

Asks Nelson's Aid in Clearing Up Question on Commission's Eligibility for Project Funds

Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission officials have appealed to Sen. Gaylord Nelson to discuss with them the federal agency legal opinion stating that the commission is not legally established as an official planning agency and is not eligible to receive 701 planning assistance.

The decision to consult with Nelson came after the regional office of the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development and the Wisconsin Department of Resource Development gave conflicting opinions as to the commission's legal status.

Recently Advised

In a letter to Sen. Nelson, Commission director Eugene Franchett described the events leading up to the recent advice given by the federal agency that

Waupaca to Open Jail Bids Feb. 4

New Plan Cuts 8,000 Square Feet Office Space From Basement Area

WAUPACA — Bids on a plan cutting 8,000 square feet of office space from the basement of the proposed county jail will be opened Feb. 4 by the county board jail committee.

The committee Tuesday rejected original bids on a plan calling for a full basement. Bids on the 28,000 square foot layout totaled $423,495, about $100,000 more than the estimated cost.

Sheriff's department, county highway police and jail facilities will not be affected by deleting

Incumbents Seek Posts At Waupaca

WAUPACA — Aldermen whose terms expire in the spring have disclosed they will seek re-election. Mrs. Harriet Ward, clerk, said Tuesday.

Douglas Johnson has filed nomination papers for the fourth ward post. Johnson, 510 Smith St., is the fourth alderman to file his papers.

Taking out nomination papers Tuesday was Ald. Ben Jorgenson, 515 E. Lake St., (2nd).

Incumbent Ald. Ernest W. Anderson (1st), Edward Wacek (3rd) and Robert Strobe (5th) have also filed nomination papers.

Alternate bids eliminating various items in order to cut the cost of the base bids were opened by the committee. About $45,000 was trimmed.

Only Detract

Most committee members said that accepting the alternates would not accomplish anything and only detract from the building.

Elmer Paul, New London, said the alternates were a bunch of fictitious figures which didn't mean a thing. By accepting them "we won't gain an inch," he said.

R. W. Surplice, Green Bay architect, said the committee could save about $60,000 by putting in a partial basement.

The basement was the cheapest type of space, he said.

The new plan will include 34 cells and all planned offices for the main floor. Eliminated will be 8,000 square feet of basement and offices to be placed in the area.

Convert Court Area

Converting the planned county court area on the main floor into office space was discussed.

The committee will present the new bids to the county board for approval at the Feb. 8 meeting.

Carl Dretzke, Manawa, said the original plan was to include three rooms for offices. These would service the state probation and conservation employees and the civil defense office. "In the plan bid on we had about three times as many offices and nobody to use them," Dretzke said.

Keep Jail Facilities

Dretzke said the committee should leave the jail and police facilities untouched in order to meet future needs.

Carl Sturm, Manawa, suggested cutting the size of the building by eliminating the judge's quarters and a committee meeting room.

Main floor of the building will have offices for the county traffic patrol captain, sheriff and undersheriff, radio room, waiting room, interrogation room, laundry, kitchen and 34 cells.

Various Cells

The jail portion will have 16 men's cells, three women's cells, three boys' cells, two girls' cells, six cells for Huber law prisoners, two maximum security cells, one mental cell and one special care cell.

County court room would also be on the first floor. It will have 14,000 square feet of space.

The lower floor will have 6,000 square feet of space, garages, power plant, heating system and miscellaneous offices.

New London Structure to be Razed

Old High Bridge Evokes Memories

BY ROGER PITT
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

NEW LONDON — New London's Old High Bridge soon may come falling down, but not without taking a long span of memories with it.

The old wooden structure is fast outliving the purpose it was built for, but residents of this community look at the bridge and poignant memories spring to mind.

The Old High Bridge was a place for sneaking the first cigarette of adolescence, for walking with a special girl, or for throwing stones at railroad cars as they passed by.

A teen-age boy might sneak off with a half-pack of cigarettes taken from his sleeping father and hightail it for the old bridge in past years.

Meant Safety

The bridge meant safety, for it had endured the elements for many years. A young smoker could crawl up beneath the supports in an obscure corner and get an illicit sampling of cigarettes.

One woman who can view the bridge from her back yard awaits the razing with mixed emotions. "It was the fashion years ago to walk to the bridge with your date and watch the moon and stars," she said.

"The children used to play about the bridge and have a great time," she added. "Things have changed since the automobile has become so plentiful; everyone goes to outdoor movies, or rides to distant places."

"Bridge Forgotten"

"The old bridge has been forgotten. I only remember the pleasant things that have happened in my life when I look out the back door," she said.

A young lad of 20 years ago recalls standing on the bridge and tossing stones at railroad cars as they passed beneath. "We used to walk the railings as boys and worry our mothers," he recalled.

An old timer leans back in his chair, gazes into the sky and recounts happenings of years ago at the bridge, when he took his horse and buggy and drove over the span with his "gal."

"Sure hate to see the old bridge go, but she never was too sturdy. Sort of like riding a roller coaster," he comments.

One-Horse Span

A car and a bicycle meeting on the bridge would have a hard time passing. A good team of horses was used to measure the width of the bridge when it was being built, another man recalled.

The timbers were cut in the area and sawed at the local mill.

"Driving over the old bridge now is a matter of holding one's breath in anticipation of meeting an oncoming car or crashing through the rotten and creaky timbers."

Crossing the bridge is like trying to run up the side of a giant cracker box and then come down the other side. A five-ton weight limit has been set on the bridge for so long nobody can recall when or why.

Contrast Exists

Present and past are contrasted southeast of the bridge. Curwood, Inc., a firm that specializes in polyethylene coated packaging material, is a new plant experiencing tremendous growth.

Old High Bridge currently is standing in the way of further expansion. A new high power line, water facilities and sewers have to be extended to the plant to meet planned expansion in the next five years.

A razing program was begun about two years ago, but progress has been slow. The biggest step thus far was taken at a recent meeting of the city and Chicago and North Western railway.

A joint petition of the Public Service Commission for a public hearing is in the works.

The days of the creaking bridge are drawing closer to an end. It will not be too soon, nor will it be without some reminiscences.

Home Decorations in the theme of the "Twelve Days of Christmas" won first prize for Mrs. Clifford Rafoth, 65 Brent St., Clintonville, in the city's home decorating contest. The decor featured music and originality, judges said. (Laib Photo)

City Employees to Get Hike in Benefits, Pay at Clintonville

Bids Accepted for Gasoline, Airport Hangar Construction

CLINTONVILLE — Full-time city employees will receive more hospital, surgical and life insurance and a salary raise, the common council decided at a special meeting Tuesday night.

The council accepted the low bid of Employers Mutual of Wausau for hospital and surgical group insurance at the monthly rate of $3.59 per single person and $12.68 for a married person with dependents.

The bid of Business Men's Assurance Co. of America, through Maron Grill, Clintonville, at a monthly rate of $1.76 per person for the $1,500 life insurance, was accepted.

Monthly Premium

Total monthly premium for the city will be $497.92 as of Jan. 1, when the new plans go into effect.

The council voted to advance the pay rates of all full-time employees one step in the labor grade to which they are assigned, effective Jan. 1.

The move puts in writing some of the practices already being carried out, such as naming the six paid holidays of employees.

City employees, with the exception of the police (who are covered under state statutes in regard to overtime pay), have a five-day, 40-hour work week, Monday through Friday.

Work Six Days

The police work six days, then are off two and in addition to being advanced one step receive five cents an hour in lieu of the paid holidays.

In other action, the council:

- Accepted the bid of Midland Cooperative through the Clintonville Cooperative of 1.89 cents net price per gallon for gasoline for 1966.
- Approved the $4,985 bid of the Clintonville Lumber and Supply Co. for construction of three "T" hangars at Municipal Airport.
- The city has the structural steel for the beams. Ald. Eugene Dexter, chairman of the airport commission, reported that the hangars will be rented as soon as they are available.
- Salary Increase
- Increased the clerk's salary $34 per month to $500 on May 1, 1966, and to $510 on Jan. 1, 1967.
- Heard proposed ordinances changing the salary expenses allotments of aldermen and salary of the municipal judge.
- At present the mayor receives $100 a month plus $25 for expenses, and this would be changed to $125 a month plus $35 for expenses.
- Aldermen receive $40 a month, which would stay the same, but instead of $1 for each committee meeting, they would be paid $15 a month to cover expenses, effective April 19, 1966.
- $300 Raise
- An increase of $300 a year in the salary of the municipal justice was proposed. The hike would be from $1,200 to $1,500 a year, effective May 1, 1966.
- Instructed the clerk to contact the city attorney for the resolution covering the salary of the city attorney.
- Approved several bills to allow payment this year.
- Deferred calling a special council meeting to consider an ordinance on annexation. This could not be acted upon as the Town of Larabee has to be notified that petitions have been presented to the city for annexation.
- A motion was passed that the Town of Larabee be informed that petitions have been received to annex the Martin property, the Urban Telephone Corporation property, and the city-owned swimming pool property.

3-Day Storm Rages Along West Coast

Floods Threaten; Shipping Stopped by Wind Off California

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Winds diminished from gale force, but more rain fell in areas from Northern California to Washington today and heavy snow piled up in mountain sections.

The three-day storm in the Pacific Northwest has caused extensive property damage. Power was knocked out in several communities. Many roads and some major mountain passes were closed. Floods from rain-swollen rivers and streams threatened some areas.

Rain was reported in nearly every city from Puget Sound to Southern California. More than eight inches of rain hit Cape Blanco on the southern Oregon coast.

Into Nevada

Winds of 70 m.p.h. Tuesday halted four ships outside San Francisco's Golden Gate for several hours as storms battered the area. The rain and high winds extended into northwestern Nevada.

A blizzard swept Mt. Shasta in Northern California and derailment of a freight car at Dunsuir delayed the Southern Pacific's Cascade passenger train for more than nine hours Tuesday. The train runs between Portland, Ore., and Oakland, Calif.

Warm southerly winds took the chill out of most of the central part of the nation, including areas where temperatures had dropped to below zero in Northern sections in the last few mornings. Readings in most other areas were generally above normal except in northern New England and near the northern border of Montana.

'No Perfect Place in U.S.' Area College Students Told

Standing-Room Only Audience At 'Operation Look Homeward'

"There isn't any perfect place to live in the United States," a standing-room only crowd of 300 college students and Fox Valley paper executives was told Tuesday.

David Wiggins of the State Department of Resource Development told persons attending "Operation Look Homeward" at the Institute of Paper Chemistry that where one lives is "a matter of taste, luck and fortune."

Others speaking at the morning session were D. W. Bergstrom, executive vice president of Bergstrom Paper Co., Neenah, and general chairman of the Wisconsin Paper Industry Information Service, and Dr. Arild Miller and Arnold Grummer of the Institute staff.

Wiggins said that almost any place in the world offers both opportunities and disadvantages.

He predicted Wisconsin "is going to be a decent place to live for a long time to come" because of the concern among state officials and residents that everyone have a decent life.

"To be perfectly honest," Wiggins said, "I don't know if the state has an economic future. I can't say positively the state will prosper." He said persons can only base their predictions on history and various facts of economic development.

Wiggins said, "We live on know-how, not resources." He needs, provide recreational opportunities for the public and protect wildlife," Bergstrom commented.

He said the 35 miles of the Fox River between Lake Winnebago and Green Bay has the highest concentration of paper mills in the world.

Introductory Remarks

Introductory remarks were by Grummer, who showed several paper products and their use, and the durability of paper found after being in water for 200 years.

Miller, of the admissions office, briefly described the various programs the Institute offers in its graduate school.

After the morning talks, students met with representatives from various Fox Valley paper firms. They are to tour area paper mills this afternoon and several days this week.

Statewide Project

The program is part of a statewide project to acquaint college students with papermaking career possibilities in their home communities.

"The program is sponsored by the industry's information service. The local projects sponsored by the Institute and seven paper manufacturing firms.

Companies participating are Marathon Paper Products Group of American Can Co.; Appleton Coated Paper Co.; Bergstrom Paper Co.; Fox River Paper Co.; Kimberly-Clark Corp.; Riverside Paper Corp., and Thilmany Pulp and

KIMBERLY — Members of the planning commission voted Monday night to recommend to the village board, the rezoning of a portion of property at 121 S. Maple St. from residential to business district.

Helped When She Fell

70-Year-Old Appleton Woman Wants to Thank 'Good Samaritans'

Since Nov. 14 Mrs. Margaret Baldwin, 422 W. Seventh St., has become used to living with frustration. That was the date she fell down a full flight of stairs and broke both wrists.

Her arms are in casts up to her shoulders, and she has learned she can't do much for herself.

One thing she wants to do doesn't depend on two good arms. At the moment it's also impossible. She wants to say "thank you" but she can't find the ones she wishes to thank.

Late Sunday Morning

It was late on a Sunday morning that she fell. Mrs.

Baldwin, getting ready for church, was rushing. At the top of her indoor stairway she stumbled and fell all the way down.

In great pain, the 70-year-old managed to open the outer door and cry for help.

People walked along the sidewalk but no one heeded or heard. Then, finally, a man, his wife and their teen-age daughter stopped, listened, and hurried to the house.

There was no question of "not wanting to become involved." They saw at a glance that Mrs. Baldwin had fallen, asked whom they should call, and stayed with her until she was safely on her way to the hospital.

Shock of Fall

The shock of the fall has made recollection of the day hazy, and Mrs. Baldwin cannot remember the name of those who helped her. She has checked the name she recalls with St. Mary Roman Catholic Church but the register has no such name on its rolls.

Mrs. Baldwin is recovering nicely, with the casts scheduled for removal in January. Before then, she'd like to be able to thank the family who helped her that Sunday morning. She can't unless they come to her.

Sen. Nelson's Aid Sought by Fox Planners may be considered for 701 planning aid.

The paragraph in part states: "The prime requisites for eligibility are that the agency in question be legally empowered under state or local laws to carry on metropolitan or regional planning. In Wisconsin, planning of this nature is authorized by sections 66.30 and 66.945, Wisconsin Statutes."

Seek Clarification

At a policy committee meeting Tuesday, Franchett said the commission should seek clarification of the federal agency's advisory letter even though "it may upset the regional office."

He said they had "a good chance of obtaining the clarification," noting however, that the commission "may win the battle but lose the war."

Franchett reminded members that the commission will still have to deal with the regional office in Chicago regardless of the outcome.

Franchett told Nelson a clarification of the federal agency's ruling is warranted because of the many prerequisites the commission fills being in an urban area, and having activities which parallel and often surpass planning and implementing activities of comparable agencies.

Meet With Nelson

Franchett and the committee have asked Nelson to meet with them, if possible, when he is in Wisconsin next month.

The committee voted to hold the matter in abeyance until the proposed meeting with Nelson.

In other action, the committee recommended that E. H. Lovelace of Harland Bartholomew and Associates, St. Louis, Mo., be authorized to review commission activities and make recommendations regarding any changes in its scope.

Take "Second Look"

Franchett said it has been almost 10 years since the commission was formed and felt this was a good time to take a second look at its activities.

Review will be made between January and March, 1966, if approved by the commission's executive committee next week.

Cost may not exceed $2,000.

The committee recommended the commission undertake a comprehensive study of refuse disposal systems in the region. Committee members noted several municipalities have been encountering problems in handling refuse disposal.

The proposed contract for the soil survey of the Fox Valley region was recommended for approval.

School Boycott Postponed In Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Sponsors of a planned boycott of a predominantly Negro high school Jan. 3 said Tuesday the demonstration had been postponed because of difficulty in getting an out-of-town speaker for that date.

Assemblyman Lloyd Barbee, D-Milwaukee, chairman of the Milwaukee United School Integration Committee (MUSIC), said the one-day boycott at North High School was first scheduled for Jan. 31, first regular school day of the second semester.

Barbee, only Negro member of the Legislature, said a specialist in Negro history from Chicago would address a "freedom school" for pupils participating in the boycott that day.

MUSIC staged a 3½-day boycott of Milwaukee public schools in October to protest what it contends is segregated education as a result of racial housing patterns involved in school district boundaries. It has announced another one-day boycott at Lincoln High School, but no date has been set.

Funeral Services for Wesley D. Kaulum, 67, 629 N. Leminwah St., a co-owner of the Campbell Stores who died Sunday in Rhinelander, were held at 2 p.m. today at the Wichmann Funeral Home. Burial will be in Highland Memorial Park.

Truce Talk Heard Through Viet Nam; Add More Troops

U. S. Air Warfare Moratorium Continues Without Peace Try

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Truce talk pervaded the Vietnamese theater of war tonight, but the United States underscored its commitment to South Viet Nam by airlifting another brigade of U.S. troops into the jungle conflict.

The moratorium in the U.S. air war on North Viet Nam went into its sixth day, but the halt in the air attack still drew no public peace feeler from Hanoi.

The South Vietnamese government was reported ready to join the Viet Cong in proclaiming a cease-fire for the Vietnamese New Year next month. The United States entertained some doubts but was expected to concur in the truce.

Neither Washington nor Saigon saw the Communist offer of a truce on Tet, the lunar New Year festival Jan. 20-23, as a significant breakthrough toward peace. In the long guerrilla war, a military lull during the national holiday has become an annual ritual.

The airlift of some 4,000 jungle fighters from Hawaii to the central highlands base of Pleiku, 240 miles north of Saigon, raises the total American force in Viet Nam to 175,000 men.

The 3rd Brigade of the U.S. Army's 25th "Tropic Lightning" Division was arriving by C-141 and C-130 transports to join the American challenge to six or seven North Vietnamese regiments reported operating in the mountains. The brigade is taking over an area through which Communist supplies are believed coming from North Viet Nam.

Some Volunteers

Some of the men served as volunteers in Viet Nam before as machine gunners on helicopters. The division won its nickname and lightning armpatch for its jungle fight against the Japanese in the Solomon Islands in 1943.

U.S. officials did not say whether the rest of the division would be moved in from Hawaii.

Twenty-one Americans were killed in combat last week compared with 10 in the previous Sunday - to - Saturday reporting period, a U.S. spokesman announced. There were 95 American wounded.

Government casualties were listed as 227 dead, 499 wounded and 104 either wounded or captured, while the Communist toll was given as 937 killed and 137 wounded or captured.

Despite the air lull in the North, the air war in the South continued unabated.

Infant Dies After Blood Transfusion By Order of Court

MADISON (AP) — A 4-month-old Pardeeville boy given an emergency blood transfusion against objections from his parents, died Tuesday in a Madison hospital.

The child, Rocky, was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Vernon, rural Pardeeville. The parents objected to the transfusion because of their religious beliefs. The child had been brought from a Portage hospital to Madison suffering from pneumonia and complications.

Circuit Judge Richard T. Bardwell authorized the transfusion after hearing medical testimony that the child had a 50-50 chance for survival with a transfusion. The child's physician had petitioned for permission to give the transfusion. The boy's father quietly but firmly protested the action during the court hearing.

Cornell Scientists

Radiation-Preserved Foods Called Unsafe

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP) — Three Cornell University scientists warn — and the Army denies — that food preserved by nuclear radiation could be deadly.

Their report Tuesday collided also with actions by the Food and Drug Administration, which has approved irradiated bacon, potatoes and wheat products for human consumption.

But the scientists said irradiation was a dangerous procedure for foods containing sugar. They said sugar breaks down under radiation and can pass on lethal effects to living plant cells and probably to animal and human cells.

$250,000 Fire Damages College Avenue Building

Restaurant's New Fryer Is Blamed

BY BILL KNUTSON

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Fire that started when a new deep fryer was turned on for the first time raced through three floors of the Olympia Building Tuesday evening causing damage that probably will total more than $250,000.

The blaze, that started at 6 p.m. in the kitchen of Retson's Sandwich Shop on the ground floor of the Olympia Building, 109 W. College Ave., burned out of control nearly three hours.

About 40 patrons in the restaurant were evacuated without incident and Miss Velda Petersen, occupant of a third floor apartment, escaped unharmed.

Retson's Restaurant and a "rathskeller type" bar called the Shack, frequented by Lawrence University students and others, was on the ground and sub-levels of the 50-year-old building, as was the Rose Shop, a women's ready-to-wear store.

Second Floor

On the second floor were the law offices of William J. and David G. Geenen, the Groh Insurance Agency, Ace Tri-City Stamp Co., and several vacant offices and storage spaces. Miss Petersen's apartment was the only occupied space on the third floor.

Philip N. Retson, 1115 E. Melrose St., one of four brothers who own a portion of the Olympia Building, said he was in his restaurant kitchen when the fire broke out.

Retson said the entire restaurant and bar had just been extensively remodeled and the deep fryer was "the final touch." Men who installed the machine earlier in the day turned on the fryer controls and a short time later flames broke out in the filtering apparatus just above, he explained.

Spread Rapidly

Retson said he grabbed a small extinguisher and thought he had the fire out when Appleton firemen arrived. However, seconds later flames erupted again and spread rapidly, Retson said.

Two waitresses, Joan Jurgella and Sandra Ernst, ran upstairs to aid Miss Petersen, but found her coming down the stairs. She had smelled the smoke.

Gasoline Ration Puts Officials on Bikes in Zambia

LUSAKA, Zambia (AP) — Government ministers have laid up their American cars for smaller models. U.S. Ambassador Robert Good and other diplomats have bought bicycles. Work schedules have been altered to end lunch trips home.

"Is your journey really necessary?" That's the watchword in Zambia as gasoline rationing limits motorists to one gallon a week.

Search for Missing Illinois Girl to Continue When Snow Melts

ROCKFORD, Ill. (AP) — Authorities are waiting for snow to melt in the Rockford area to continue the search for Susan Brady, 11, who has been missing since Dec. 20.

Capt. Herb Brown of the Winnebago County sheriff's office said Tuesday a planned search of drain tiles and culverts in the area was hampered by a moderately heavy snowfall over the weekend.

An apparent crank telephone call to the girl's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Brady brought a promise by State's Atty. William R. Nash that any such calls that can be traced "will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law."

Supplies Rifles, Machine Guns

Government Presses to End Strike at Gunpowder Plant

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government stepped up its pressure today to end a strike which the Pentagon says could virtually cut off the supply of rifle and machine - gun ammunition for U.S. fighting men in Viet Nam.

"We want a settlement," said chief federal mediator William E. Simkin after reporting scant progress toward ending the 29-day strike of AFL-CIO machinists at the Olin Mathieson Chemical Co. plant in East Alton, Ill.

The Pentagon said the plant is the sole supplier of gunpowder for rifle and machine-gun bullets and 20mm shells used in Viet Nam.

"The Army will face a critical problem in supplying the ammunition requirements" unless the strike is settled quickly, the Pentagon said.

Court Action — While Simkin pressed for a voluntary settlement of the dispute over wages, fringe benefits and working conditions, the White House reportedly was ready to halt the strike with court action if necessary.

President Johnson would have to sign a petition to a federal court for an 80-day "cooling off" injunction under the Taft-Hartley Act.

The talks almost broke off completely Tuesday, sources said, but Secretary of Labor Willard Wirtz stepped in and talked with the negotiators for two hours.

Simkin then announced the resumption of negotiations to strike. Simkin said there was reason to believe they would settle quickly once the machinists reached agreement.

Workers at the plant now average $2.78 per hour. The last rejected offer reportedly was worth about 34 cents an hour more.

The Olin Mathieson plant produces the powder for all U.S. firms that manufacture bullets for the new M16 lightweight rifle, the standard M14 rifle, M60 machine guns, tracer bullets and 20mm shells used in Viet Nam, the Army said.

While Simkin said Johnson had not officially intervened in the talks, there were indications that Wirtz' sudden appearance in the negotiations followed conferences with the White House. Machinists' and Olin Mathieson negotiators four times previously reached agreement, but union members voted it down. The talks were called here Monday after the latest rejection.

Some 4,200 workers are involved in the strike, 3,800 of them machinists. Two other unions — the AFL-CIO International Brotherhood of Electrical

Workers and the independent Western Employees Trade Council — with a total of less than 600 members are also on strike. Simkin said there was reason to believe they would settle quickly once the machinists reached agreement.

Workers at the plant now average $2.78 per hour. The last rejected offer reportedly was worth about 34 cents an hour more.

440 May Die During Weekend

Safety Council Makes Prediction For 3-Day Holiday

CHICAGO (AP) — The National Safety Council estimated today that between 360 and 440 persons could be killed in traffic accidents during the three-day New Year's weekend.

The holiday period begins at 6 p.m. Thursday and ends at midnight Sunday. The period actually covers 78 hours.

The Safety Council said some 360 persons would be expected to die in traffic accidents this weekend if it were not a holiday.

Traffic accidents during the three-day year-end period last year killed 474 persons, the highest toll on record for that holiday.

Christmas Toll — A record 720 persons were killed in last week's three-day Christmas observance, the highest number recorded for any holiday period since record-keeping began.

The Safety Council estimated that 17,000 to 21,000 persons would suffer disabling injuries this weekend in traffic accidents, compared to 18,000 for a non-holiday period.

Motorists are expected to drive about 6.9 billion miles during the year-end period, about the same expected for a non-holiday weekend, the Safety Council said.

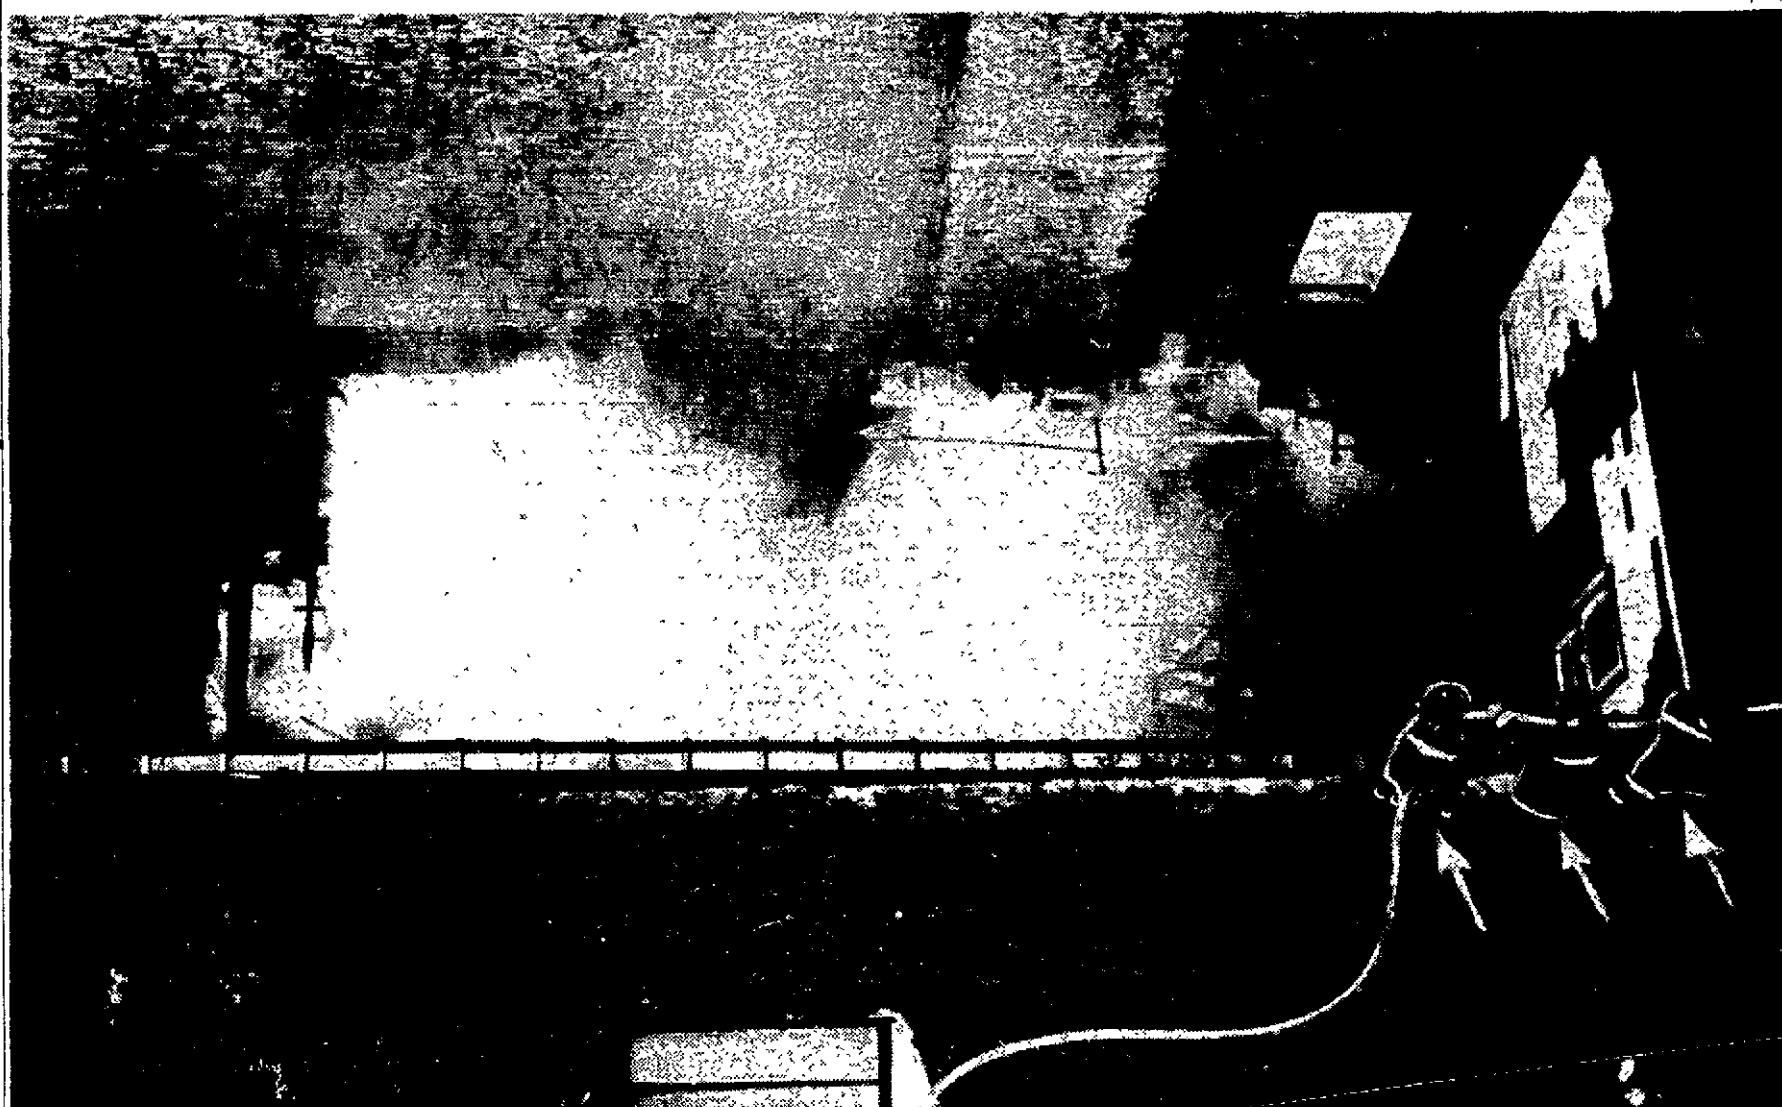

Church Destroyed By Medford Fire

MEDFORD (AP) — Fire destroyed a towering 73-year-old church in downtown Medford Tuesday.

The First Baptist church building was engulfed by a blaze which apparently started on the first floor, according to fire officials. There was no estimate of damage available.

The white frame building, across from the Taylor County courthouse, was built in 1892 and was occupied by the Congregational Church until 1948. The Baptist congregation purchased the building in 1950 when another fire destroyed the interior.

Fire Chief Leslie Ketelhut said the cause of the fire was undetermined.

More Than $250,000 Damage is estimated in the fire which destroyed part of the Olympia Building on College Avenue in downtown Appleton Tuesday night. The fire started in a new deep fryer in the kitchen of Retson's Sandwich Shop and most damage was confined to that building with adjoining firms receiving smoke damage. The picture was taken from the top of the Zuelke building.

the stage and in the ballroom. In the dining room a large coronet was suspended from the ceiling, adorned with crystal tear drops and heavily flocked netting twinkling with petite lights.

The sparkle of the occasion was also reflected in five crystal chandeliers, hung in the ballroom. The glow was enhanced by large, topiary trees of white with pink roses and petite lights.

Chandeliers in the ballroom were tied with swags of shocking pink tulle, and beneath them, later in the evening, the young presentees, their escorts and guests danced the winter evening away.

For the presentees and escorts the evening began with a cocktail party at the E. Patrick Toal home, then, 7:30 p.m. dinner in the club's card room. Each honoree was hostess to a guest couple at this pre-presentation event.

Parents and adult members dined at 8, their tables decorated with French cherubs on coronet bases holding shaded votive lights. Roses gowned in embroidered organza over taffeta, was presented to the music of "Hello, Dolly".

Floral Brocade

"Unchained Melody" was the music selected by Miss Lhost for her introduction. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey J. Lhost was escorted by Peter Bemis, Sheboygan, and was gowned in white silk floral brocade with an oval-neckline.

Miss Toal, escorted by Tom Callaway, son of the E. R. Callaways, was presented to the music of "Tenderly". The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Patrick Toal wore crystal white faille taffeta with an and leaves spread from the centerpiece, making an oblong arrangement.

First Dance

After the girls received their coronets and were introduced, their fathers claimed them for the traditional "first dance" and then the "rush" began.

Miss Chumbley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Chumbley, chose Malcolm McIntyre, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon R. McIntyre, as her ball escort. She wore a ball gown of white velvet in an easy sheath design with an empire line, and was presented to the organ background of "Taste of Honey". Miss Garvey was escorted by Dave Michael Porter, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Porter. Her gown of organza was styled with short sleeves and a scoop neckline over a bell skirt of Swiss embroidery. Her musical choice was "Dear Heart". Miss Garvey is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Joseph Garvey.

Eric Roehl, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Roehl, was the ball escort of Miss Hopfensperger. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Andrew J. Hopfensperger. Introduced to "Tonight", the honoree was gowned in crepe chiana in an easy sheath style. The empire waistline was banded with seed pearls and crystals.

Her Escort

Miss R. Christine Koller chose Geoffrey H. Bartol, Milton, Mass., as her presentation partner. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry V. Koller was presented to "April Love". She wore an empire style dress of peau de soie with lace inserts trimmed with seed pearls. A short back flounce was also trimmed with lace.

Miss Gretchen Koller, daughter of the O. G. Kollers, was escorted by Bruce Doerfler, son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Doerfler. For the ball she wore a gown of Italian silk pesante with a full bell skirt and empire waist accented by self bows. Her song was "More".

Mrs. Eric Lindberg was organist during the presentation ceremonies.

After the ball, the presentees and their guests went on to a post party at the Richard Garvey residence.

Mrs. Raymond LeVee and Mrs. Thomas Frawley had charge of planning this year's ball. The decorating scheme was carried out by Mrs. Shirley Thomas.

President Skips
Many Opportunities
To be With Press

By FRANK CORMIER
AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson, a confirmed talker and normally an expansive host at Christmas time, has become the sphinx of the Federates this year.

In marked contrast to past performance, Johnson has side-stepped repeated opportunities to rub shoulders with the sizable press contingent here and to give them the benefit of his thinking.

Last year, for example, newsmen were invited to the LBJ Ranch three days out of four during the Christmas weekend for long, informal conversations with the President punctuated only by the distribution of un-spiked eggnog.

Press Left Out
Reporters traveled to the ranch area three days out of four this past weekend, too — once when the First Family was serenaded with Christmas carols at Johnson City and twice for church services. On none of these occasions, however, did Johnson invite the press corps to his home.

The usually loquacious chief executive limited himself to fleeting exchanges of "Hello" and "Merry Christmas" in greeting the newsmen who turned out.

This was so unlike the man that, quite naturally, speculation about the motives for his silence followed.

Most observers are agreed that Viet Nam has been responsible for the emergence of the now taciturn Johnson.

Delicate Matters

There have been guarded hints from some sources that the United States, in probing toward possible avenues for a peaceful settlement of the war, is involved in matters of such delicacy that any presidential statement would be ill-advised.

Thus there was no acknowledgment from the White House when a Christmas cease-fire was announced. There was only silence. And Johnson's acting press secretary, Joseph Laitin, took pains to claim the whole affair was outside the ken of the chief executive — that such matters were being handled in Saigon.

Although the cease-fire soon was fractured, American bombers did not return to the skies over North Viet Nam. Laitin, asked about this, again said it was a matter to be dealt with in Saigon.

Bombs Silent
One Texas newspaper, the Houston Post, summarized the situation in a banner headline: "Bombs Silent; White House, Too."

If no one at the White House was talking publicly, one source close to Johnson offered a possible explanation for the President's own silence: "He is silent because he is listening."

Presumably Johnson has been listening for any tremor of reaction from Communist capitals to what obviously has become a new American peace feeler.

In the past 36 hours, the total White House claspdown on any word involving Viet Nam has begun to crack.

Viet Nam Discussions
First came a disclosure that Johnson had received an indirect message from Pope Paul VI expressing pleasure at the Christmas cease-fire. Then it was announced that Johnson and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara had been discussing Viet Nam, the cease-fire and related matters during lengthy meetings at the LBJ Ranch.

3-Story Building
Wrecked by Fire

Olympia Building escaped damage from the flames and the remaining portion had extensive smoke, water and heat damage, firemen said.

The roof collapsed about 8 p.m. and crashed through to the ground floor, carrying with it the contents of most second floor offices.

Smoke, Water Damage

In addition to about $200,000 damage in the Olympia Building, smoke and water damage in two adjoining buildings may bring the total to $250,000.

Firemen said there was dense smoke throughout at least three floors of the Bretschneider Furniture Co., just to the west. Furniture is kept throughout the building. For a time, firemen expressed concern that flames might break through a fire wall and get into the furniture store, but the wall held.

Smoke rolled through many of the 11 stories in the Zuelke

Building just to the east, but the extent of damage there was not known. Also hit by the dense smoke was the Jack Stewart Shoe Store on the ground floor of the Zuelke Building.

70 Firemen
About 70 firemen fought the blaze with three-fourths of the city's equipment. All off duty firemen were called in.

The blaze was difficult to fight, according to Fire Chief Roland Kuehni, because of the many false ceilings on the ground floor, extensive duct work, and the numerous small quarters on the second and third floors. Kuehni said Tuesday night's blaze was the worst fire this year in Appleton.

Firemen remained at the scene with one piece of equipment until 4 a.m. Ice coated the firemen, their equipment and the street and sidewalk. The temperature was about 20 degrees.

Members of the Outagamie County Red Cross disaster unit and employees of Karras Restaurant served coffee and sandwiches to firemen.

Saigon. The raid Tuesday night ended speculation that the big bombers, which had stayed away from South Viet Nam for four days, had joined the air moratorium.

There was also no relief for the Reds from tactical air strikes in the South. U.S. carrier planes and South Vietnamese propeller-driven Skyraiders splashed Viet Cong positions in Long An Province to help small government positions 25 miles southwest of Saigon.

U.S. and Vietnamese air force planes flew 280 combat sorties against Viet Cong river shipping, encampments, storage and supply areas, and dropped 276 tons of bombs.

Strike pilots reported destroying 388 buildings, damaging 365 others and sinking nine sampans.

Navy planes from the carriers Ticonderoga, Hancock and Enterprise flew 131 sorties and claimed 80 structures destroyed, one automatic weapons site knocked out and two damaged.

The Viet Cong made widely scattered attacks.

They blew three bridges in the Quang Ngai area, 330 miles northeast of Saigon, and overran a Vietnamese district capital headquarters at Minh Long, 15 miles southwest of Quang Ngai City. Air observation reported the capital post deserted but some outposts still fighting it out. Tactical planes flew 34 sorties against the attackers up to midafternoon.

A militia squad was badly hurt in Vinh Long Province, 80 miles southwest of Saigon, when the Viet Cong overran its outpost.

Radio Broadcast

The National Liberation Front's underground radio broadcast the Viet Cong's Tet truce offer Tuesday night, saying the guerrillas had "decided to stop attacking the puppet armed forces and government" from 11:01 p.m. Jan. 19 to 11 p.m. Jan. 23, Saigon time.

The broadcast said the cease-fire would allow "the military men and personnel of the puppet government to return to their native villages to meet their families again; to worship their ancestors and to visit their grandparents' tombs."

The Viet Cong announcement did not specifically extend the truce offer to U. S. and other foreign troops fighting alongside South Vietnamese forces but it implied they would not be fired on if they obeyed the cease-fire.

Some officials regretted that the Communists had beaten the Allies to the propaganda punch with the new truce offer, while others expressed fears the Viet Cong might try to turn the lull to a military advantage.

Moved on Pleiku

During the Tet truce early this year the Viet Cong moved in on Pleiku, in the highlands. When the cease-fire ended on Feb. 7, they bombarded the U.S. military base there with mortars, killing eight Americans and wounding more than 100 others. The United States immediately retaliated with the air strikes against North Viet Nam.

An announcement by the Soviet Union that it would send its No. 2 Communist party leader, Alexander Shelepin, to Hanoi raised new grounds for speculation about peace moves. Moscow and Peking are vying for influence in North Viet Nam's capital.

The Chinese Communists have been taking a tough public line in the war, while statements from Soviet leaders indicate the Kremlin might like a Vietnamese settlement to give new life to its policy of coexistence with the United States.

The satisfied individual who is at peace with himself and his world is more likely to behave responsibly than is the frustrated, unhappy person. As a youngster builds meaningful relationships with others, he is not so apt to look for irresponsible ways of finding release.

The responsible youngster is usually the child who has learned to trust himself and his world, and to be satisfied with what he gets. He does not have to lunge into trouble to assuage his hurts.

Do — Don't —
Do. This is a time when you both will want to enjoy each other in an area worth remembering. Most newly married couples in a recent study had selected some resort or scenic spot for their wedding trip. It does not have to be Niagara Falls, or other places frequented by honeymooners, but it should be an area you both would enjoy. Modern travel by car, plane, train, bus, or ship offers a wide choice.

Great art has no relation to reality!

False. Great art is a means whereby the depths of reality are revealed. It exposes the tragedies and the joys of life. Therefore, in great art, there is often an element of ugliness and distortion. Great art grapples with life. Mediocre art may be more pleasant or even more pleasing, but it is essentially superficial. It gilds, not only the lily but the sordid and the unpleasant. It evades and escapes, rather than grapples with the basic issues of life.

Paul was injured in an accident on U.S. 45, one mile north of Oshkosh, at 11:47 p.m. Saturday when the car he was driving was struck from the rear after he had pulled out of the driveway at the Keg Tavern.

Also injured in the accident were Greg Gauthier, 21, 814 E. Irving Ave., a passenger in the Paul car, with head cuts, and Peter A. Freiberg, 22, 1420 Spruce St., the driver of the other car.

Paul was home on Christmas leave from the Great Lakes Naval Training Center.

The auto went down an embankment and struck a utility pole. Bauer, apparently dazed, climbed up the embankment and walked onto the highway where he was struck by one car and hurled into the path of another. Bauer was dead on arrival at a Racine hospital.

Andrew Van Den Huevel, 18, Green Bay, was killed early today when his car left a Green Bay street and struck a telephone pole. The auto came to rest against a tree. Van Den Huevel, who was alone, was home on leave from the Navy.

Moro told Fantani in a telegram from his Alpine vacation retreat.

The right-wing magazine Borgheese published La Pira's remarks, and said he made them in an interview. La Pira, a former mayor of Florence, said they were tongue-in-cheek observations made at a private party. Mrs. Fantani gave the party Dec. 20 while her husband was in New York, serving as president of the U.N. General Assembly.

Much Confusion Over Medicare

There is a whole lot of confusion about one question which applicants for medicare are required to answer. The problem is not so much the foolishness of loyalty oaths or the threat of paying out federal funds to Communists as it is general bureaucratic bungling.

Funds in medicare are to be denied to anyone who is a member of "any organization referred to in section 210 (a) (17) of the Social Security Act." The section excludes from Social Security coverage employees of organizations which had registered under the Internal Security Act of 1950 or were under "a final order of the Subversive Activities Control Board" to register. In order to comply with this part of the medicare legislation, the Department of Health, Education and Welfare wrote out the question to be asked of all applicants.

"Are you now or have you been during the last twelve months a member of any organization which is required to register under the Internal Security Act of 1950 as a Communist-action organization, Communist-front organization, or Communist-infiltrated organization?" Anyone who answers yes must be denied medicare funds. But while we see no reason to hand out such funds to people actively trying to overthrow our government, nobody can quite figure out why the question now appears while it is not asked of people applying for regular Social Security benefits.

There is also much confusion over exactly what organizations the question refers to. Right now the only group ordered to register is the Communist Party and that hasn't been enforced. There were a few other organizations once so ordered but courts ruled against evidence brought in or the groups simply disappeared. The New York Times figured there would be some twenty organizations to which the medicare question would apply. The Social Security Administration listed seven besides the Communist Party and the Internal Security Division of the Department of Justice said only five of these seven had final orders issued against them and anyway all had now disappeared!

In their efforts to deny funds to Communists, both Congress and HEW officials have simply made the whole affair more confusing. Sometimes the ridiculous aspects of federal legislation appear more damaging even than paying out funds to Reds.

New Water Law Helps Cities, Villages

Cities and villages will be the main beneficiaries of an Appleton-sponsored bill, recently signed into law by Governor Knowles, because it gives them a free hand in supplying utility service to industrial or institutional sites outside their corporate limits.

The legislation was requested by the Appleton Common Council, and received the backing of the League of Wisconsin Municipalities, after this city was ordered by the Wisconsin Public Service Commission to supply water service to a new church constructed in the Town of Menasha.

In its order, which has been appealed to Dane County Circuit Court at Madison, the Public Service Commission held that since the City of Appleton agreed to supply the Fox Valley Extension Center water several years ago, it had an obligation to let the church connect onto the water main along the route.

For years Appleton has had a policy of supplying municipal services only when the petitioner agrees to annex to the city. The PSC ruling made the city vulnerable to a flood of future requests from homeowners and others outside the Appleton borders.

Under the new law, a city or village may extend service to an industry or institution outside its corporate limits without facing future liability for providing municipal services to others along the same route.

Cities, villages and towns are now operating in an era of intense competition when it comes to attracting new industries and expanding tax bases.

It does not seem fair that city residents should have to pay the brunt of the cost of major capital improvements—such as water utilities, treatment plants etc.—only to have those outside the corporate structure share in these benefits by merely paying the going rate or a small surcharge. The new law corrects the inequity that has existed in the past.

Needed—Better Tires—or Jacks

There has been some progress in improving the quality of automobile tires since Senator Gaylord Nelson pointed to what he called "a national scandal" in the industry. It is discouraging that it appeared to be necessary to have the problem called to the public's attention by a United States Senator.

The Wall Street Journal reports that "bigger tires are being put on some new 1966 cars. Minimum standards for replacement tire performance are being raised by the rubber companies, while some state governments are setting their own and the quality of retread work is due for close scrutiny."

Senator Nelson has introduced a bill in Congress to establish minimum safety performance standards and also to require the accurate grading and labeling of tires so the consumer will have some idea of what he is getting. In general two ply tires are being taken off the market and some car users are being alerted to the need for putting in more air when they carry heavier loads. Blowouts may not be a major cause of accidents on the highway but they are sometimes contributory. And the consumer should expect to get good service from tires.

The combination of pressures may improve tires so much that another woeful need in the automobile industry will not have to be filled. The car jack is probably the most outmoded, clumsy and faulty tool in modern history. Unless tires improve considerably, enraged customers are going to demand some changes in a device which ought to work a lot better than it does in a society which can orbit men into space.

by the Republicans in Greece, Turkey, Iran, Lebanon, Quemoy-Matsu, Austria, Trieste, Guatemala and the Dominican Republic.

But it has no outline on how to achieve the freedom to run their own country for the South Vietnamese. It worries about "an endless Korea-type jungle war." It recommends "a Kennedy-type quarantine on North Viet Nam... and the maximum use of American conventional air and sea power against significant military targets."

The Republican coordinating committee is just as empty of ideas on how to get us out of the trap we have fallen into in the jungles of Viet Nam as is the Johnson Administration.

Looking Backward

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Motor for Jan. 4, 1865.

Henry J. Raymond, of the New York Times, does not anticipate any division of the Union Party, in Congress, on the question of reconstruction.

Regarding the admission of southern representatives, the Times says:

"It is perfectly natural and proper that those who have given their money to the prosecution of this war should hesitate about putting into Rebel hands the power to repudiate the debts thus incurred; and it is equally proper that they should demand evidence that the recent rebels are prepared to act in a loyal temper and a national spirit, before they re-admit them to seats off power in the councils of the Nation."

And upon the differences between the President and the Congress, the Times says:

"Meantime the differences between the President and Congress are greatly exaggerated. Both agree that the restoration of the Union is greatly to be desired. Both agree that it ought to be effected at the earliest possible moment consistent with the public safety, and both agree that members from Rebel States should not be admitted to Congress except upon conditions which will be satisfactory as guarantees for their future loyalty and the permanent peace and integrity of the Union.

"The only difference between them is as to the extent of these guarantees, and that is merely a difference of degrees."

Anomaly of History: Krupp Family Of Germany Selling Stock in U. S.

BY HENRY J. TAYLOR

Irony, the name is history. Germany's U-boat captains were the villains of World War I. So were the Krupps, the Baron and all the little Krupps, who had worried the world for several generations. And, of course, so was the Kaiser, the stupid ass.

But we taught the Kaiser, et

al, a lesson in that war. It was quite a thorough lesson, too.

The British losses at the Somme were 60,000 dead or wounded in a single day. The total Allied losses in that five-month battle of instruction were over a million.

The Krupp-built Hindenburg Line was still unbreached. So in 1916 at Verdun, during a 10-month period 250,000 men were killed and 300,000 wounded (both sides) in an area the size of New York City's Central Park.

BLOODIEST OF ALL TIME

It was the longest and bloodiest battle of all time. However, the Kaiser, sitting at his palace desk astride his saddle chair, never even refers to it in his massive Memoirs.

As marvelous Paul Gallico once remarked, many homeland Germans in their virile homeland "have a built-in forgetter." And there are some observers who suggest that this built-in forgetter is fairly disastrous.

Only 21 years later World War II killed 35 million people. German troops tore down General Pershing's statue near Versailles and used it for target practice. The so-called Via Dolorosa, known to Europe's refugee millions who painted their messages and direction signs on the building as they fled, was the route of the Panzers' path.

The German people subscribed 6.6 million dead from all causes on all fronts and at home. West German Red Cross President Hans Ritter states that 2,390,000 Germans are still missing from that war—1,270,000 soldiers, 1,120,000 civilians. Heil Hitler! Who he?

As 1966 begins it is again 21 years since that last World War. Our two largest allies in that war are today our two largest enemies: Russia and China. And we are depending on our three erstwhile enemies to be our military friends: Germany, Italy and Japan.

Accordingly, the German U-boat captains are back in business again. "Jane's Fighting Ships," the bible of the world's navies, has just published in London its 1966 edition. This shows that Germany's Bundesmarine now has 11 submarines in a flotilla that is growing at goose-step speed and, oh, yes, her powerful guided missile warcraft to be launched next spring are being built in the United States.

Krupps? Herr Alfred Krupp of Essen, the successor to the Baron, is now the family kingpin.

On the good Alfred's own statement, and going back to the Franco-Prussian war of 1870, Baron Krupp and all the little Krupps since then (including himself) never, never wanted to make armaments. They would have preferred peace.

"The wars were very sad for us here at Krupps," armaments director Herr Edward Houdremont, hale and hearty, told me at Essen the day after the vast plant's 28th and final bombing. Hale and hearty, told me at Essen the day after the vast plant's 28th and final bombing. But the unavoidable hand of German government orders fell on the reluctant Krupps.

The good Alfred was convicted of using slave labor supplied by the Nazis. The Allies issued a directive breaking up Krupps. But it took nine years after 1945 to process this order. Then the directive was postponed again and again.

ONE OF WORLD'S RICHEST

On November 9, 1964, I wrote how effective it had finally proved to be. On that date Herr Krupp recovered the last important unit (Westfaelische Draht Industries) in his empire which the Allies ordered broken up. He also regained his usual rank as one of the world's richest men.

This delay over, Krupps promptly turned east. Since then, the good Alfred's deals with Soviet Russia, Red China and the satellite countries alike, as well as nearly all the Western powers, have prospered that he needs more capital for more expansion, especially eastward.

So he and all the little Krupps, says an Essen announcement, now propose to offer (if they can) the joyous firm's stock on the New York Stock Exchange. They want our public's help—especially behind the Iron Curtain—in 1966.

Don't wake me up. I'm dreaming.

Branch Banking Study Committee Tackling Very Confusing Issue

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — One of the first of the important state-house events of the new year will be the launching of a serious and long-delayed study of branch banking, one of the most ferociously fought of the perennial issues in the legislature and one which thus far has generated considerably more heat than light.

Typically in the politics of the Wisconsin Legislature the reference of a difficult issue to an interim study is a tactic of delay to which one side or the other will resort when it is uncertain of its roll call position. That was evidently the story in the State Senate this year, when an Assembly-approved measure to modify the 1947 prohibition of Branch banking came up for a vote.

The author of the delaying move was Sen. Gerald Lorge of Outagamie County, chairman of the Senate committee which handles banking matters, and an opponent of any change in the prohibition law. Lorge was defeated in his bid for the chairmanship of the study committee. Also defeated was Assemblyman John McCormick of Milwaukee who championed a liberalization of the law as energetically as Lorge opposed it. When they fought to a tie vote for the gavel, the committee chose Banking Commissioner William Nuesse to preside and to plan the investigation.

FAIR DIRECTION

As it happens, the head of the State Banking Department is on record as favoring some relaxation of the rule against branching. But it appears likely, nevertheless, that in the circumstances of his position and in view of his professional reputation he will provide a more objective and careful and thorough examination of the issue than would be likely to come from one of the antagonists in the partisan arena.

It is perhaps unfortunate that the issue thus far has been largely fought on the basis of pressure. There has been relatively little public involvement. This gives the legislative politicians on both sides of the question a certain security. It may be that the intrinsic complexity of the issue will make it difficult ever to get a representative reaction from the body politics on the question.

Unfortunately too, with respect to an honest review of the question and the public policy involved, is that the banking community is so hopelessly divided into factions on the question that it is less than useful as an advisory resource. What Mr. Nuesse will probably be required to do is to arrange for a study of the experience of other states, and the laws governing there, and the testimony of experts removed from the immediate fight in Wisconsin.

The question is one which the sideline is inclined to handle with a good deal of care. Every time the subject has been broached in this report, for example, there is a substantial flow of critical mail from one of the contesting forces or the other.

FACTORS

Yet the outsider cannot avoid the conclusion that the question is a valid one, as shown by its regular reintroduction to legislative debate. It is fair to conclude also that banking policy is basic policy that should be deliberated with the utmost care. The constitutional fathers shower their own views on the point, for example, when they provided that changes in the banking laws can be achieved only with a two-thirds majority vote in each house of the legislature.

Finally, the 1947 anti-branching act was not absolute. It permitted branching for those corporations which were already in the field, in a grandfather clause. The issue now is whether other bankers can legitimately ask for the same privilege, remembering that nearly two decades have passed since the present law was written and that there have been vast and fundamental changes in virtually every other element of the Wisconsin economy and its organization.

Noted Conductor Had No Rhythm—for Golf

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Attending a concert the other night, I recalled a true story about the late Dr. Frederick Stock, conductor of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra in its "golden" era.

He used to spend his summers in Door County, and one year he decided to take up golf during his vacation. At the local golf course, he hired the

It is a widely-known fact that a professional solo dancer of ballet or modern interpretation does not usually make a good partner for ordinary ballroom dancing. And a great singer of operas or oratorios usually does not have the right rhythmic "feel" for singing popular ballads.

To take a more important example, we speak of a person having "common sense" as if this covers a multitude of situations in life. But common sense in one area does not necessarily imply common sense in another. The ordinary man with common sense is competent in facing ordinary situations which fit into the context of his experience; put him, however, into an extraordinary situation, and he cannot cope with it.

It is a false perversion of democracy to assume that "common sense" alone can solve our complex social problems, any more than Dr. Stock's sense of "rhythm" could turn him into a proficient golfer. It is worth remembering that the most dexterous of men, the great Houdini, was not allowed by his wife to dry dishes after d in ner—because he was "clumsy" and let too many fall from his hands.

Against Use of Funds to Promote Black Nationalism

Editor, Post-Crescent:

In reference to the article in the Dec. 20 issue of the Post-Crescent on page A-13.

I have written to Senators Proxmire and Nelson and asked for their opinions and what actions they intend to take regarding the allocation of federal funds to promote black nationalism in Harlem.

This is a flagrant, impossible contribution of our money, and I wanted our representatives to be aware of at least one responsible citizen's feelings about this matter.

Wisconsin Newsmen Rate Higher Education Reorganization Second

By DION HENDERSON Associated Press Writer
MILWAUKEE (AP) — The spring floods, in which the Mississippi besieged some 200 miles of Wisconsin's western border with the highest crests of modern times, made the state's top news story of 1965, in the opinion of the state's top newsmen. The weeks-long saga focused on the battle made by the beleaguered residents of La Crosse to hold back the waters, and for a fortnight the nation watched their successful fight to save the city. The dramatic struggle, in a year when man lost some notable struggles against nature's might, was picked by an overwhelming margin in the annual Associated Press poll of newspaper and broadcasting member executives. For the first time in many years, the experts found no crime story worth ranking among the top ten events of the year. Instead, in what might be interpreted as a sign of the changing significance of current events, they ranked in second place another continuing story, but one which hardly made a banner headline: the Legislature's sweeping reorganization of higher education, paving the way for new universities and community and technical colleges. The floods, most dramatic of spot news, drew 272 votes for first place in the poll; the complicated legislative procedure that will affect the educational opportunity of generations was second with 183.

To Your Good Health Girl Stutterers Are Outnumbered by Boys

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
Dear Dr. Molner. Our granddaughter has a stuttering problem that started when she was four. It is becoming worse. Now she is eight and self-conscious about it, and I am afraid it will affect her school work. She gets very good marks now. — Mrs. M.I.D.
About one child in 300 stutters — and for every girl who stutters, there are four boys.
Dr. Molner
Why? We don't know. Many girls get over it, so that among adults the ratio is about 300 men stutterers to one woman. Why? Again, we don't know. Some sort of psychological stress is important in stuttering — it is psychological rather than physical. Most stutterers can sing easily. Most stuttering children talk to their dolls or toys or dogs, (or talk to themselves) without stuttering. What does it mean? That the stutter is emotional! When a child is completely at ease, he doesn't stutter. But when he becomes tense and nervous, the stutter starts. The more he stutters, the more tense he is, the more he stutters. Sometimes this tenseness occurs in a naturally left-handed child who is forced to write right-handed. Or a child who is teased, scolded, frightened, pushed too hard. I feel very sure that other cases come from tensions which are not that obvious. Perhaps a child detects, but cannot describe, family friction. Or worried parents. Or the child is unduly sensitive to some small thing which seems very important to him, yet we don't recognize. The best means of combatting stuttering, at the present stage of our understanding, is to help the child feel at ease. The more pressure we put on him to "stop stuttering," the harder it is to stop. Yet the same child, trying to do his best in some other endeavor, such as running, drawing pictures, doing arithmetic, or anything he feels confident that he can do, may become so interested in what he is doing that he "forgets" to stutter. It is important to establish self-confidence in a child. Don't insist that he "has to be best" at something. Just encourage him to know that he is as good as should be expected of him, in his various activities, and he'll gradually take it for granted that he can talk, too. Most rehabilitation institutes or centers have speech therapists. Child guidance centers can help substantially — but don't expect results in a hurry. It takes time to figure out what subtle pressures weigh heavily on a child, and it takes tact and time to remove these pressures. Remember this: Stuttering appears to be just one form of nervous tic or trait. Some tense children develop an eye twitch. Others are perpetually restless. Still others express tensions by being arrogantly naughty, by being "too good to be true," by being obsequiously noisy, or in other ways. Don't try to force a child to "stop stuttering." He doesn't enjoy stuttering. Just help him, quietly, to realize that he CAN do things. Don't make him nervous because he can't. And keep in mind that most stutterers are intelligent, sensitive children. The stutterer too often is the child who, for any of countless reasons, is "trying too hard." Dear Dr. Molner: Can one take too much brewer's yeast? If one likes it and takes a little each day, can one get too much Vitamin B? — M. E.
Excess Vitamin B is readily excreted. A little each day will neither create an overabundance nor hurt you. W. R.: "Androgen" covers a lot of territory, but for ordinary purposes, just say that it refers to the "male hormones." (Copyright, 1965) ors won wide publicity with a four-day boycott and a series of demonstrations. The issue, still growing, drew 131 votes, good for fifth place among the state's top stories of the year. In an off-year as major elections went, a fascinating and continuing story of differences among the victors, and eventual compromise, put a political story in sixth place. The long controversy over the Western District's vacant federal judgeship, at an impasse despite the efforts of two Presidents to solve it, was solved by time during 1965 when retirement opened a vacancy on the Eastern District bench. Thus former Democratic State Chairman James Doyle, supported by Sen. Gaylord Nelson, was confirmed at Madison, and former Gov. John W. Reynolds at Milwaukee.

A court suit which had cast its shadow nearly a year ahead, and still was in its preliminary stages at year's end was ranked fourth in the catalogue of 1965 events. Newsmen came within a single vote of ranking Wisconsin's anti-trust action against baseball on a par with the tornadoes, even though final determination of whether the action will become a landmark of jurisprudence may be years away. But the effort highlighted by Atty. Gen. Bronson La Follette's bid to overturn Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes' famed exemption decision drew 178 votes in 1965. Mounting Protest... Action on another front, although still in the quasi legal category, was the mounting protest of civil rights groups against alleged de facto segregation in the Milwaukee school system. Spurred by a firm defense of Wisconsin's neighborhood school system, the protest-ran from coordinating a nationwide college campus protest to picketing projects involved a dozen or less. A further promotion—although some Polish-Americans questioned it—of a local politician who made good won 70 votes, as newsmen measured the attention given President Lyndon B. Johnson's appointment of John Gronouski as ambassador to Poland. Gronouski, former University of Wisconsin professor and onetime state tax commissioner, had been named Postmaster General in the late President John F. Kennedy's Cabinet. Lost Airmen Rounding out the top ten was a story that brought solemn affairs of foreign policy tragically home to 10 Wisconsin homes, when an Air Force Reserve plane flying a mission from Milwaukee into the Caribbean vanished with 10 state "week-end airmen" aboard. Some wreckage later was found near the Dominican Republic. The story drew 53 votes. Just out of the top ten was the state's major labor dispute of the year, the United Auto Workers' strike against American Motors Corp., and its twice-approved settlement. The second ratification vote came unopposed after a steward objected to the first. And another labor dispute that held a place among the state's top ten stories several times in the last decade — the classic struggle of the UAW and the Kohler Co.—came to final settlement too late to be ranked in the voting. After these stories, major crime had its innings in the poll. The Thanksgiving Day escape of a long-timer over the walls of the Wisconsin State Prison, first such flight in 18 years, and the subsequent 10-day chase led through southern Wisconsin by Ralph T. Gruender before his capture in Milwaukee ranked 11th with 36 votes. Just two votes behind was another continuing crime story on the killing of a young man who rescued a girl from unwanted attentions, and the capture, extradition and conviction of an assortment of migrant farm workers. With 30 votes was the story of another slaying, and a pursuit half-way across the country, with the same ending in prison cells for the four fugitives who shot down a college student working as a filling station attendant at Stoughton. The robbery netted the quartet $95, something less than it cost them to flee to West Virginia, where they were arrested. Tied with the Stoughton hold-up-killing, also with 30 votes, was tragedy of another kind — death of seven young persons in a Labor Day auto collision near Madison. And one vote back was an obituary that summed up the spirit of things past in politics, that of Philip F. LaFollette. Death of the three-time governor, son of Sen. Robert M. LaFollette Jr., brought out reminiscences of editorial page writers. And there were fourteen votes each for three other front page stories: a Green Bay tragedy in which a mother and her five children died in the flames of their home; the successful campaign of Wisconsin Legionnaires to bring the 1968 American Legion National Convention back to Milwaukee, and the minor mystery in which President Johnson's younger daughter Luci, fooled the press corps by attending the Marquette University prom in a blonde wig.

BY CAPPY DICK

A dictionary containing 948 pages -- the "Advanced Junior Dictionary" published for boys and girls by Scott, Foresman and Company -- plus two other educational books will be awarded as the national grand prize in today's easy contest for young readers. Five sets will be given away, one to each boy or girl whose contest entry is selected by the judges as one of the five neatest and most original entries from all the cities where this column is published.

The other Scott, Foresman and Company books that will be given with the "Advanced Junior Dictionary" are "Everyday Problems in Science" and "In All Our States." Both are illustrated with many pictures and each is crammed full of information of value to boys and girls eager to learn about today's world of nature, science and industry.

To be eligible for a chance to win one of the five grand prizes, a contestant's entry must first win a local qualifying prize. This is a set of two Coin Squeeze Purses with key chains attached. One purse is for the winner to keep; the other to give to a friend. These purses, suitable for both boys and girls, have no locks, but hold coins securely. To open the purse, you simply squeeze it. To close it, release the pressure and it closes automatically. Locker, house and bike padlock keys may be carried on the chain that is attached to the purse.

Squeeze Purses

Five sets of Squeeze Purses will be awarded, one set for each of the 5 neatest and most original contest entries from boys and girls of the Fox Valley area.

The contest is easy to enter. All you have to do is clip out the picture of the poinsettia and the flower pot, paste the pot on a sheet of paper or a postal card, then paste the flower in place so it appears to be growing from the pot. Next use paints or crayons to color the flower and the pot. Add any decorations to the entry that you consider neat and original.

Print your name, age, address and the name of your school beneath the picture. Address it to Cappy Dick's Midweek Contest at the Post-Crescent and mail it before midnight of day after tomorrow.

Prize winners' names, addresses and schools will be published here and their prizes will be sent to their homes by mail. Judges' decisions will be final. All entries become Cappy Dick's property; none can be returned.

1965 Television Year Dismal, Says Reviewer

Predicts Barbra Streisand, Julie Andrews
Specials Will Win Best Program Votes

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
NEW YORK (AP) — With the end of the year comes the usual assortment of blank ballots from magazines and trade publications and those who watch a lot of television and write about it are urged to fill in their choices of the best of this or that category.

But 1965 has been, on the whole, such a dismal year in terms of television entertainment. There is no particular reason anyone should.

This was the year when the audience finally wearied of medical problems as a substitute for real drama. It was a year when television turned to military stories in order to get a high quota of conflict into its plots. It was a year when the audience began to show the first signs of boredom with the perennially running-away of "The Fugitive" and its imitators.

Dick Van Dyke kept tripping over the family hassock once a week but his scripts began to show signs of age and attrition. "The Man From U.N.C.L.E." got so far out, possibly to confound its imitators, that it lost all touch with reality. So many actors started playing their parts with their tongues in their cheeks it seemed that Hollywood was having a mumps epidemic.

No Vote This Year

This viewer does recall, without prodding, watching the performances of Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne with appreciation, of enjoying the novelty of participating in "The National Drivers' Test," of savoring the rich color and content of both "The Louvre" and "Michelangelo." But that is lean picking in a solid year of television.

If one is picking "best shows," the votes this year must go to the actuality programs — the recovery of the astronauts, the coverage of the visit of Pope Paul to New York, the funeral of Sir Winston Churchill and an occasional illuminating or revealing bit of news film shot in Viet Nam or in the South or in Los Angeles during the disturbances.

So this is the year when my ballot for entertainment shows remains blank. Maybe next year.

Ritz Brothers Act Broken Up Only by Death

By BEN THOMAS

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — "We've never had a fight or a split-up," Al Ritz, eldest of the three Ritz brothers once said.

"Not many comedy teams can say that," he added.

"We're all hams," Al recalled. "But Harry is the hammiest. That's why Jimmy and I put him in center spot."

The death of Al, from a heart attack Wednesday in New Orleans, has broken up the team of three brothers, whose slapstick comedy routines delighted movie, television, stage and nightclub audiences for many years. The three had been together 37 years.

Eldest of Brothers

Alfred Ritz, born Alfred Joaquin at Newark, N.J., was 64 — three years older than brother Jimmy, who is three years older than brother Harry.

Al got his first professional job as a dancer in the silent film, "The Avenging Trail," while a copy boy for the old New York World. He was paid $3.

He broke into vaudeville via the dance hall route and later formed a team with Al Van and Vera Audrey, playing the Keith circuit.

Alfred was credited with suggesting the brothers form an act among themselves. They appeared in such Broadway productions as "The Florida Girl," "Vanities," and "Casino Vanities" and made their full-length motion picture debut in "Sing, Baby, Sing."

The brothers confined their act in recent years to a few clubs, mostly in New Orleans, Miami Beach and Las Vegas.

Co-Hosts Steve Allen and his wife, Jayne Meadows, welcome Maurice Chevalier, who accepts for Walt Disney an award for Disney's many contributions to motion pictures and television on ABC-TV's hour-long color special, "The Hollywood Deb Stars of 1966," Friday, Jan. 7, at 9 p.m.

He arrives in snowy Vermont whose citizens give a cold shoulder to his wild tales of outer space.

6:30-8 - Channel 5 — "Blaze of Glory" doesn't fully ignite on The Virginian. Yet there are some warm moments as Leif Erickson, an ex-shepherd with more integrity than gold, tries to spark a love match between daughter Joan Freeman and Doug McClure. (Color)

8:30-9 - Channels 11-6-9 — The men in Gidget's young life are getting to be too many, and too much. While favorite beau Steve Mines is pining away at Princeton, Sally Field lines up dates with a couple of warring lads who unfortunately have the same last name — Cook. (Color)

8-9 - Channels 4-5 — "The Admiral" on Bob Hope Presents is a fairly engrossing drama about a father and son who are at opposite seas from each other. It would be more believable except for some contrived business of having the two on the same ship during a testy moment in the Korean war. Surely even Robert Young, who plays the admiral, and Robert Reed, who plays his pilot son, could settle their difficulties later. (Color)

8-9 - Channels 11-6-9 — "The Invaders" on The Big Valley provides still another opportunity for Heath (Lee Majors) to get a rough going over. This time as if he were a lad of three, he is kidnapped and held for ransom. (Color)

8:30-9 - Channels 2-7-12 — The Dick Van Dyke Show is wonderful comedy relief for those who are now jobless and for people who have suffered the indignities of the "unemployment line." In this brittle satire, Rob relives the days when he had two months freedom from the Alan Brady Show.

9-10 - Channels 4-5 — I Spy finally gets around to its pilot, "Affair in T'sien Cha," which is something to do with agents Robinson and Scott on the prowl for a missing train bound for Hong Kong. It's pretty murky business and not quite up to the stride of episodes that have already been on the air. (Color)

Mrs. Smith May Seek Fifth Term

MADISON (AP)—State Treasurer Dena Smith, only woman ever elected to a constitutional office in Wisconsin, voiced reluctance Monday toward suggestions she not run for fifth term to make room on the ticket for another Republican.
"I don't know who is promoting this, but I feel badly about it," said Mrs. Smith. "I'm not certain about what I will do in 1966 and I haven't decided whether to run again or not."
There have been published reports that Republicans have suggested Mrs. Smith, 66, step aside so the party might nominate Wilbur N. Renk of Sun Prairie for the office and that she serve as deputy if he were elected.
"There has been no deputy treasurer since 1949 and there is no need for one," Mrs. Smith replied.
Renk, unsuccessful candidate for U.S. senator last year, has also been urged to oppose Rep. Robert W. Kastenmeier, D-Wis., in the 2nd District congressional race next year.
Mrs. Smith, from Milwaukee, was appointed treasurer to succeed her late husband and defeated a rival candidate endorsed by the Republican Party in the 1960 primary. She won re-election in 1960, 1962 and 1964.

Cutting Funds As Racial Prod In Mothballs

Chicago Incident Won't be Repeated
Under Present Setup

BY ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — A revealing new sign that the Johnson administration wants to cool off the Negro revolution for a time

Evans Novak

is the fact that the ultimate racial weapon of Title Six has been put in semicold storage.

Title Six of the 1964 Civil Rights Act gives Uncle Sam power to cut off federal funds to any racially segregated state or local governmental unit, such as the multiple programs of the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare (HEW). But HEW no more wants to use the ultimate weapon of Title Six than the State Department wants to use the hydrogen bomb.

Consequently, to the growing anger of the civil rights movement, two recent developments at HEW put Title Six in mothballs.

First, Assistant Secretary
James Quigley, the HEW official most concerned about civil rights and the man who threatened to cut off school aid to Chicago, has been stripped of all responsibility for civil rights.
Change Responsibility
Second, responsibility for enforcing Title Six will not be given to a specially-trained staff (as the civil rights movement wants) but to HEW's operating divisions — officials who have no particular interest in civil rights.

To civil rights leaders, this fits a developing pattern: Abolition of Vice President Humphrey's Equal Opportunities Commission; dominance in civil rights policy of the sometimes legalistic Justice Department; emasculatation of the Community Relations Service (closely tied to the civil rights movement); and now, the clear intention to play Title Six enforcement in a low key.

This reflects a general, somewhat hardening, attitude in the Administration that Negro leadership cannot and should not depend on Washington to force integration. Specifically, high officials at HEW privately admit they don't like the idea of employing Title Six to blackjack Southern (and in increasing cases non-Southern) officials.

Quigley Blamed

Jim Quigley, a former liberal Democratic congressman from Pennsylvania, was not in tune with this go-slow philosophy. He urged a tough Title Six policy on HEW's operating divisions, even threatening to cut off funds to Chicago schools — a threat quashed by the White House. When Mayor Richard Daley and Chicago Democratic congressmen complained, the blame was put on Quigley.

Within a few weeks, Quigley lost his Title Six authority.
Quigley denies it, but lower level HEW officials interpreted this as a signal to take an easy-going attitude toward segregation. Soon after, Quigley decided to resign from HEW and seek the nomination for governor of Pennsylvania.

Replacing Quigley as civil rights chief at HEW is Peter Libassi, who favorably impressed Negro leadership as a staff member at the Civil Rights Commission. But Libassi is only a special assistant to HEW Secretary John Gardner, a lower spot on the bureaucratic totem pole than Quigley's.

No Staff

But more significant, Libassi has been given no staff. This question came up two weeks ago in a private meeting of Attorney General Nicholas Katzenbach, Secretary Gardner, and top men in the Civil Rights Leadership Conference (a coalition of liberal-labor groups) in Katzenbach's office. In answer to requests for a special Title Six staff at HEW, Gardner said no.

He was as good as his word.
Consider the case of the politically popular Hill-Burton program of Federal aid for local hospitals. (Quigley had been trying to cut off Hill-Burton funds to segregated communities. Libassi might want to follow suit, but he has neither staff nor power to do it. The authority rests with the Hill-Burton division in HEW, which sees no reason to disrupt long and cordial relationships with Southern officials.)

HEW officials confide that they would prefer a bit of honey to the Title Six whiplash; authority to reward desegregation government units with greenbacks. That would take an Act of Congress.

In the meantime, the discov-

Village at Ft. Benning

Grim Game Prepares Soldiers for Viet Nam

By CLARKE STALLWORTH
FT. BENNING, Ga. (AP) —
Slanting rays of the early morning sun touched the thatched roofs of the village, encircled by a moat and a wall of sharpened sticks.

Villagers in the coned hats of Vietnamese padded about the enclosure. Smoke from a cooking fire trailed upward in the frosty air.

Suddenly a villager sprinted from the woods nearby.
"We are being surrounded!"
he yelled, pointing to the edge of the woods. "The Americans are coming!"

A group of soldiers appeared, stopped near the moat. An interpreter cupped his hands and yelled in Vietnamese.

Free From Oppression
"We are here to free you from guerrilla oppression," he said.
"Remain where you are. You will not be harmed."

The village chief squatted on a log bridge across the moat.
Suddenly the runner who had alerted the village broke for the woods. Two soldiers, camouflaged with sage, rose from the grass and shot the runner.

Incongruously, a voice came over a loudspeaker, cool, matter of fact. "You will notice," the voice said, "that they stay away from the gate — that's where they put the booby traps."

It was a grim game. A practice session for American infantrymen training for real combat in the jungles of Viet Nam. The voice on the loudspeaker belonged to Capt. Joe Zimmers of Harrisburg, Pa., a two-year veteran of "advising" South Vietnamese soldiers.

Primitive Village

Several hundred new second lieutenants watched from bleachers on the hill overlooking the primitive village. Zimmers built two villages on the Ft.
Benning reservation as part of the training designed by the Platoon Tactics Committee of the infantry training center.

What the green Army officers saw enacted at the village could save their lives. Here they learn the grim facts of guerrilla warfare from men who have served in that strange war.

The drama continues. Soldiers warily search the innocent-looking village. A soldier wielding a long stick pokes the wall of a hut. He yells. There is a tunnel opening.

Out crawls a guerrilla.

ery that HEW will cut off funds as seldom as possible is infuriating the civil right groups, led by the NAACP (most moderate of the rights organizations).
Their anger will be heard as the new year progresses.

(Copyright, 1965)

The soldier inspects a water barrel. He gently fixes a homemade grappling hook to the barrel, moves away and lies down, then pulls.

Booby-Trap

Blam! The booby-trapped barrel explodes.

The soldier pokes a pig pen enclosure. Again the loudspeaker voice comments. "Sometimes they will hide weapons — even themselves — in the pig pen."

The flagpole is next. A soldier tugs at the lanyard. It is stuck.
He dives for cover suddenly.
"Grenade!"

Another explosion and the base of the flag pole is demolished.

Villages are tough as seen from the hilltop bleachers. But the worst problem for the U.S. soldiers is portrayed in another kind of Benning drama.

It is the ambush.

A half-track clanks along a road and hits a land mine. The machine gunner rakes the sage with fire. Guerrilla small arms fire pops. The machine gunner slumps. Soldiers tumble from the half-track.

Ambushers Flushed

More trucks, more soldiers arrive. The ambushers are flushed.

"Nothing new about ambush," Zimmers said through his loudspeaker. But it is a very special problem in Viet Nam where American convoys have been waylaid many times at heavy loss of life and equipment.

Zimmers lectures on what can be done: retaliatory fire as fierce and quick as possible.
Armor plate under the truck bed. Chicken wire over the open windows to keep grenades out.

In another scene at Ft. Benning's realistic training ground,
Lt. Don Modica of Cleveland, Ohio, gets his feet wet leading a column of other new lieutenants through the brush.

No Way Around

Modica halted the column at the edge of a swamp. Bits of ice sparkled in the water. "All right," Modica said, "you scouts see if you can find a way around this stuff."

An instructor shook his head.
"There isn't any way around it."

"All right. Let's go," Modica told his men. Holding their rifles above their heads, they sloshed through the icy water.
The instructor spoke again.
"Don't let them bunch up.
They'll get killed that way."

The platoon made it through the swamp and joined two other platoons in taking a village.

Roast Dog

After the exercises in guerrilla warfare, the instructors talked over the operation. Maj.
Francis J. Bray of Iron Bay,

Mich., who has served in the Mekong delta, said U.S. soldiers had to live like the Vietnamese — eating rice, eels, maybe snakes. Once, Bray said, he ate roast dog.

The major was talking with an old farmer in the delta.

"Look," the farmer said, "I don't really care which side wins the war. But I wish one side or the other would win. I am paying taxes to both sides."

The grim games go on at Ft.
Benning. The soldiers train hard. If they learn their lessons well enough, maybe they will survive in the real war.

'Joe Thief' Pays for Newspapers

NORWICH, Conn. (AP) —
The Salvation Army has received a $10 contribution from "Joe Thief" as a form of restitution for Joe's lightfingered activities several years ago.

"Joe Thief" — that's how he signed his name — wrote a letter to the owner of a lunch-ette confessing that he had taken about $10 worth of newspapers from a machine in front of the restaurant over the course of several months in 1963.

Joe enclosed two $5 bills in payment for the stolen papers and asked Dino Pappas, the proprietor, to turn the money over to whoever owned the papers.

Pappas turned the money over to the Norwich Bulletin, which owned the stand and the papers, and the Bulletin then contributed the money to the Salvation Army.

"This should make Joe feel even better," said a spokesman for the newspaper.

Knowles Vetoes Licensing of Auctioneers

MADISON (AP)—A bill passed by the 1965 Legislature to license auctioneers was vetoed by Gov. Warren P. Knowles Monday.

The veto message said the proposal was too complicated, lacked licensing procedures and did not provide reciprocity.

The governor signed bills to:
Provide $462,000 in state aids to pay costs of special personnel for programs to educate handicapped children with mental or emotional problems.

Establish a reception and treatment center for adult offenders at the state prison.

To extend state payment of tuition for foster children attending high schools to those attending elementary schools.

Make blind employees of the Wisconsin Workshop for the Blind eligible for state group insurance.

Reason for Ruffing May Be Strange

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

You often ruff a side card with one of dummy's trumps to help set up the suit; or even if the suit is set up—if you want the lead in dummy. When else would you ruff a side suit in the dummy?

When this hand was played in the recent national tournament in San Francisco, declarer took the first trick in dummy with the ace of diamonds and led out the ace and king of clubs at once. If the queen failed to drop South would ruff a club in dummy to set up the rest of the clubs.

As it happened, the queen did drop. The rest of the clubs were good, so South abandoned the suit in order to get the trumps out.

When South led a low trump from his hand West played low, allowing dummy's jack to win. West took the next trump and led his last club, whereupon East ruffed to defeat the contract.

MEDAL FOR WEST
Pin a medal on West for refusing the first trump trick. He had to get the trumps out of dummy before he could give East a ruff. Don't look for any medals for South. If you go back to the first paragraph you'll see where South went wrong.

Even though the clubs are all good, South should lead a third club and ruff it in dummy. There is no need to get the lead in dummy, but South must get the last club out of West's hand.

Only then can South safely lead trumps. When West gets in with his ace of trumps he cannot lead a club—and East cannot defeat the contract with a ruff.

Civil Rites Performed for Anne Ford, Stockbroker

NEW YORK (AP) — Anne Ford, stylish heiress to the automobile empire, was married Tuesday in a civil ceremony to stockbroker Ciancarle Uzielli.

Henry Ford II, chairman of the board of the Ford Motor Co., gave his daughter away in a private ceremony in the Fifth Avenue apartment of his former wife, Anne McDonnell Ford.

The bride, 22, listed among the world's best-dressed women, wore a knee-high white silk gabardine dress trimmed in ermine and no veil for the wedding.

It was the first marriage for Miss Ford and the second for Uzielli, 31. Both are Roman Catholics. Criminal Court Judge Frederick L. Strong performed the marriage ceremony.

Third Ford Wedding
The wedding was the third marriage of a Ford this year. Anne's older sister, Charlotte, 24, is on a honeymoon in Switzerland after her marriage Dec. 16 to Greek shipping magnate Stavros Spyros Niarchos in Juarez, Mexico. She was to have been the maid of honor at Anne's wedding.

Their father, Henry II, was married for the second time Feb. 20 to the former Maria Cristiana Vettore Austin, the Italian widow of a British naval officer.

Uzielli is the son of Giorgio Uzielli of New York and Florence, Italy, and Sybil Billotte of Paris. He is a member of the New York Stock Exchange and a partner in his father's company. He is a graduate of Harvard.

His mother is a member of the Rothschild international banking family.

Your Problems

Ann Advises Forbearance: Irritation Sign of Affection

BY ANN LANDERS

Dear ann landers: I'm a man who has been married for 21 years. My mother always used to say, "It's the little things that break up marriages. People manage the big things somehow." She was so right.

My wife has a habit that drives me nuts. Whenever we go out for dinner she never orders salad or dessert. Her theme song is, "All I want is a small steak and a vegetable." The minute my salad comes she puts her fork in it — "just to taste the dressing." If I don't pitch in fast I don't get any.

With the dessert, it's the same story. She'll say, "Herman, it looks so good, I'll just take a snidge." Then she moves in for half or more.

This has been going on for 25 years. She knows I hate it but she does it anyway. I you can think of a solution you are a genius. — D. Privet

Dear D.: The experts tell us that the desire to eat off the plate of another person is a sign of genuine affection. So, consider it a compliment and pray for another 25 years.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: What do you do with a boss who throws things? I don't mean in a fit of temper or anything like that. He just throws things because he is too lazy to walk a few steps.

Instead of carrying the telephone directory to the stand he will leave it 15 feet. Often it lands on the filing cabinet but usually it hits the floor. One day I am afraid he will fracture my skull. This is entirely possible as we live in Dallas and our phone books are large and heavy.

The boss also throws staplers, appointment pads and other unbreakable items.

Why does he throw things and is there any hope of curing him?—Constantly Ducking.

Dear Duck: Your boss probably makes mind-fucks as to whether or not he's going to hit his target. Tell him you want to get in on the betting, too. If he hits you he owes you $20. (P.S. And no fair moving in the direction of the flying object.)

Dear Ann Landers: Next week our 19-year-old son enters and put away eight steins the Air Force. To be truthful, I

The boy's father has never encouraged him to accomplish anything in school. He has always said "If you just get by, that's good enough, son. If you're too smart nobody will like you."

One thing the boy's father has encouraged is beer drinking.

The two of them can sit down a piece. They get loud and raucous but my husband insists they are not drunk because "beer is mild."

I hope and pray that the service will straighten our son out. Please print my letter. I'd like to put it in my husband's lunch pail.—Bessie

Dear Bessie: Please don't expect the Air Force to perform miracles. It can only work with the material it gets. I have known instances where young men came out of military service vastly improved, however. And it may happen to your boy, so don't give up hoping.

Your husband has done his son no favor by encouraging beer-guzzling. Some alcoholics drink nothing but beer. (P.S. I hope your husband enjoys his lunch today.)
